Pravda Spurns West's Bid For Meeting in September

East Germany Torn by Fresh Riots, Arrests

BERLIN (AP)—New riots in the Soviet-run uranium mines of East Germany were reported today as a fresh wave of arrests by Communist police spread over the rebellious Russian zone.

The U. S. High Commission newspaper Neue Zeitung said troops of the East German "peoples' army" have been rushed into the Erz Gebirge uranium mining area along the Czech border to put down the miners' new uprising.

The paper said 200 miners have been arrested this week for "open rioting." They were demanding release of 1,200 comrades arrested in the big anti-Communist revolt of June 17.

Schwarzenberg and Johanngeorgenstadt, two mining towns between Aue and the Czech border, were named as the main trouble centers. This area produces rich uranium ore used by Russia to make atom bombs.

A new campaign of terror swept through the Communist zone as police and courts combined in a concerted drive to suppress the danger of a new mass revolt.

Refugees fleeing to West Berlin told of night raids by police into hundreds of homes and mass roundsup of suspected trouble makers in many cities. They said the wave of arrests began Tuesday.

"Red Hilde" Benjamin, the new justice minister, was busily carrying out her announced program of cracking down on strikers through the court system she heads. Hundreds of people acquitted and released after the June 17 revolt were reported rearrested. Others who got off with light sentences have had their cases reopened for an increase of penalties.

Many Justice Ministry workers were reported fired—and some arrested—for dealing too gently with riot participants.

Police joined civilians in fleeing before the wave of Communist vengeance. Twenty-one members of the Communist "peoples' police" and 562 other refugees, including a former state secretary in the East German Construction Ministry, reported to West Berlin police yesterday and asked for asylum.

Driver Killed By Train at Erie Crossing

James L. Mulvane, 34, Of Near Iberia Dies In Mishap Near Galion

James Lawrence Mulvane, 34, an auto mechanic of near Iberia, was killed instantly when he drove his car into the path of an Erie passenger train, just southwest of Galion, Wednesday afternoon.

Highway patrolmen from the Marion post said the twisted car was pushed by the train for nearly a half mile to within 100 yards west of the intersection of U. S. Route 30-S and State Route 61. The vehicle was demolished.

Crawford County Coroner B. P. Mansfield of Galion said Mulvane died instantly of a crushed skull. He also had a compound fracture of the right arm, fractured left arm and right thigh. He was identified by cards and papers in his clothing.

Mulvane, employed on a part time basis at the Gerrow Motor Sales garage in Galion, was returning to his home with a 1941 Buick, owned by the Earle A. Wiener Co., which he was test driving.

Township Road Crossing

He was driving south across the Dice Township Road crossing of the Erie and New York Central Railroads, about six-tenths of a mile west of U. S. Route 30-S, at 3:27 p.m., when he drove in front of the eastbound Erie passenger train. J. C. Baird, 64, of near New Bloomington, was engineer of the diesel engine and W. L. Price of Marion was conductor. There is no flasher signal at the crossing, patrolmen said.

Mulvane lived on the old Iberia-Mt. Gilead Road, south of Iberia in Morrow County. He had an auto repair shop at his home, and also farmed.

Born on May 9, 1918, in Climax, O., he was the son of Ray and Clara Smith Mulvane, who survive. He was married to Betty Fisher in May, 1943.

Other Survivors

Surviving in addition to his wife and parents are: two daughters, Susie Jane and Clara Ellen, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Chester Benner and Mrs. James Weaver, both of Marion; two brothers, Willie and Quinton Mulvane, both of Marion; one sister, Mrs. William Everly of Prospect; four brothers, Gerald of Aberdeen, Wash., Kenneth of the U. S. Navy, Allen, U. S. Army, and Jerry, at home.

Funeral services will be held at the Craven Funeral Home in Mt. Gilead at 2 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. William R. Blackwell of the Edison Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be at Iberia Cemetery. Friends may call at the family residence after noon Friday until noon Saturday.

Trucker Hurt in Crash

State highway patrolmen are completing investigation of an accident which occured on U. S. Route 30-N, in the village of Oceola, at 10:20 p.m. Wednesday involving a tractor and semi-trailer outfit and a Michigan car.

The truck, owned by the Norwalk Truck Lines, Norwalk, O., and driven by Harold Elrod, 39, of Mansfield, and the car, owned by Jefferson Pinson of Wyandot, Mich., sideswiped. The impact sent the truck crashing into a tree on the right side of the highway. The entire left side and cab of the tractor was badly damaged and the left side of the car was damaged.

The truck driver was taken to Bucyrus City Hospital by a passing motorist. He suffered multiple bruises about the body, and shock.

Patrolmen said extent of injuries received by the three passengers in the Pinson car was not known yet.

Cars driven by Conrad Stoneburner, 20, of 1016 Oak Grove, Marion, and Carl E. Neville, 25, of near Marion, collided at the intersection of Marion County Roads 175 and 94, Fountain and W. Fairground Streets, at 3:45 p.m. Wednesday. Stoneburner was arrested by patrolmen on a charge of failure to obey a stop sign and was cited to appear in Municipal Court July 25.

Stoneburner was treated at Marion City Hospital for multiple abrasions of the left leg and back and a bruised right leg. Neville was not injured.

Hog Killed in Accident

At 1:20 p.m. Wednesday on Marion County Road 122, one mile north of State Route 47 and just south of Marion, a car driven by Ted Baker, 19, of Prospect, struck a hog, causing slight damage to the front of his car. The hog, owned by Oscar Fetter of near Prospect, was killed.

Plan Called Plot To Force Soviet Hand

Behind-the-Back Deal by Big Three, Is Paper's Comment

MOSCOW (AP)—In a major statement of Communist policy, Pravda today spurned the West's call for a September conference of the Big Four foreign ministers on Germany and Austria. The organ of the Soviet Communist party said the invitation was a behind-the-back "deal" attempting to force the Soviet Union's hand in advance.

The newspaper in a four-column, front-page editorial gave the first Soviet reaction to the July 15 invitation from the U. S., British and French ministers for Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to meet them in talks.

(Observers in London concluded that the Pravda editorial indicated the Kremlin would reject the Western bid to a conference dealing only with Germany and Austria.

Pravda did not slam the door on the possibility of some kind of four-power parley. Such a conference, it said, "under specific circumstances could have an important and positive significance."

The newspaper lashed out at "deals" it said the three Western foreign ministers made in advance in their Washington meeting—"attempts to force upon the U. S. S. R. both the time and agenda of a four-power meeting adopted without the participation and behind the back of the representatives of one of the four states."

(These statements seemed to indicate the Soviets want the procedure followed in the past, agreement on an agenda at a preliminary conference of deputies of all four countries. The last proposal for a Big Four meeting which reached this stage died in 1951 because the deputies, after 3½ months of negotiations in Paris, were unable to agree.)

House Rebuffs Ike, 288-115, on Foreign Aid

Senate Is President's Last Hope To Stave Off Billion-Dollar Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, rebuffed in the House, looked to the Senate today to restore to foreign aid funds some of the $1,100,000,000 cuts he says are too deep.

The House ignored the President's late-hour plea last night and approved without major change a total of $4,438,678,000 in new foreign aid funds for the year which started July 1.

Eisenhower had requested $5,138,922,22, some 2½ billions less than recommended by former President Truman.

House approval was by a 288-115 rollcall vote. The appropriation was supported by 128 Republicans, 158 Democrats and 1 Independent, with 82 Republicans and 33 Democrats voting against it.

Before the final vote a solid bloc of Republicans, beat down six Democratic-supported attempts to raise the total. A few hours earlier Eisenhower had told a news conference that the reductions were too heavy for America's own security.

The House upheld its Appropriations Committee in making cuts of $690,834,132 in new money and in ordering the administration to return to the Treasury $414,806,298 from past foreign aid appropriations. It also authorized the administration to spend $1,758,010,179 carried over without commitment from past appropriations.

The reductions lopped 800 million dollars from available unpledged funds for global military aid and 300 million dollars from economic and technical assistance.

An attempt by Rep. Coudert (R-NY) to impose a 5½ billion limit on spending was defeated on the ground it would actually mean a further cut in the bill. The administration plans to spend $6,800,000,000, largely for previously ordered military equipment.

GOP leaders made no concerted attempt to fight for more money, although a small group of Republicans sponsored all the amendments to restore cuts.

The key House vote came on a proposal by Rep. Javits (R-NY) to restore all 312 million dollars sliced from new funds for military aid to Europe. The amendment was defeated 102-41 on a standing vote, with only 13 Republicans supporting Javits.

Top Military Men Gather At Quantico

Wilson Trying New Approach to Defense Department Harmony

By ELTON C. FAY

QUANTICO MARINE BASE, Va. (AP)—The men who run the military—more than 100 civilians, generals and admirals — begin tonight a camp-meeting-style conference.

During the next three days they will live together, join in sports and talk serious business about American defenses, the Korean War and the Russian military menace. On Saturday they will be joined by President Eisenhower.

Secretary of Defense Wilson summoned all the top policy and administrative officials of the vast Defense Department to the meetings, to run through Sunday morning. Invited, too, were chiefs of other agencies whose work involves defense matters.

Among those who have accepted his invitation are Vice President Nixon, Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge, Secretary of the treasury Humphrey, Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming, Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, Atty. Gen. Brownell, Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission and Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The outgoing and incoming members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be present, with Gen. Omar Bradley, the present chairman, and Adm. Arthur Radford, the designated chairman, scheduled to make talks as part of the formal presentations by the Defense Department and each of the three armed services.

Wilson keynotes the meeting in an opening address at a dinner tonight. He has told friends in discussing the sessions here that: "This is a good way of achieving unification and cooperation; it's better than a directive."

Marion Derby Set Saturday On S. Main St.

The Marion Lions Club Saturday will try for the second time to run the seventh annual Soap Box Derby. Originally scheduled for last Saturday, the Derby was called off because of rain. It is illegal to run a Soap Box Derby on a wet track according to Derby rules.

The Derby will be run off as originally planned on S. Main St. hill with events starting with a parade at 1:30 p.m. The race will follow immediately after the parade and will be run until all but one boy is eliminated. He will be the Marion representative to Derby Downs in Akron Aug. 9 when the National Derby contest will be run.

Judges this year for the Marion Derby will be Col. John Phelan of the Marion Engineer Depot, and three attorneys, Walter Moore, John Watters and Joseph Halberstein. Fred Harden of Harden's Music Store is general chairman of the Derby.

Reds Hit Rhee Outburst

Cease-Fire Details Almost Completed

PANMUNJOM, Friday (AP) — The Allies and Communists seemed on the threshold of a Korean armistice today even as Red China's Peiping radio warned that renewed South Korean opposition has thrown the cease-fire "in great danger."

There were persistent reports here that the historic document ending three years of fighting could be signed within 72 hours. These reports lacked official confirmation, however.

Authoritative Allied sources in Munsan said one or two minor points remain to be ironed out and that one or two more meetings of staff officers might be necessary before the chief Allied and Red negotiators meet to fix a date for the signing.

A source close to the negotiations said staff and liaison officers are progressing rapidly with final details, but the armistice has not yet been "wrapped up."

Staff officers were said to have drawn the cease-fire line across Korea during a 15-hour session ending at 1:45 a. m., Thursday. Arrangements for exchanging prisoners of war wanting to return reportedly were set up at a meeting later in the day.

Despite a hostile reaction by Communist radio stations to President Syngman Rhee's statement Wednesday that South Korea will follow its own course of action unless the Chinese agree within six months of a truce to leave North Korea, Red workmen continued work on "armistice hall," the building designed for the truce signing ceremony.

ROKs Storm Ridge, Lose It In Bitter Fight

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean infantrymen fought with bayonets, knives and rifle butts to the top of strategic Sam Hyon Hill in central Korea today but were beaten off in a savage 5½-hour fight with a reinforced Chinese regiment.

North of Sam Hyon, Allied air and ground observers reported sighting Chinese troops. Allied big guns shelled two separate Red battalions massing north of the battle line, plus a concentration of about 40 Red trucks and six tanks.

Rugged Sam Hyon Hill overlooks important territory on the Kumsong Bulge line, which the South Koreans established after being forced back last week by the mightiest Red offensive in two years.

Fear About-Face on Truce

U.S. Diplomatic Staff Fights To Control Rhee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sought today to hold Syngman Rhee to acceptance of a Korean truce despite angry new South Korean threats to explode the bright promise of an armistice.

The line of U. S. diplomacy, in the latest of many crises in the truce efforts, was laid down in a statement by Secretary of State Dulles declaring that the United States assumes Rhee "will abide by his assurances" not to obstruct a cease-fire.

The statement, issued yesterday a few hours after new demands from Seoul, reviewed promises made to Rhee for American support and security guarantees if he cooperates, but emphasized, at both its beginning and end, that Washington expects Rhee to "honor the assurances he has given."

A copy of the statement was formally delivered to Rhee today by U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs.

The South Korean President, according to information available started the new series of attacks because he had a feeling he had been let down by the United States in assurances given to the Communist command in Korea a few days ago and made public Sunday.

U. S. officials were fully aware, therefore, that their utmost diplomatic skill would probably be required to get Rhee eventually to go along.

They were understood to be pressing for the fastest possible windup of truce negotiations in order to get the agreement signed, if possible, before Rhee can fully reverse his position.

Officials and diplomats say the trouble between Rhee's South Korean government and the U. S. government is simply this:

The United States is determined to end the Korean War if the Reds will agree. Rhee considers the truce a trap and a defeat for his aim of unifying his country. He is therefore trying stubbornly to keep the way open for a possible—he probably considers it inevitable—renewal of the war with American support.

When Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson was negotiating with Rhee in Korea a few weeks ago, Rhee repeatedly pressed him on this point. Robertson hammered the line that the United States thought Korea should

Oxygen Tent Blast Kills Girl in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION — Ten-year-old Barbara Carol Dukeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Dukeman of Galion, died at 10:20 p.m. Wednesday in Galion City Hospital seven hours after she was admitted for treatment of first and second degree burns suffered in an explosion of an oxygen tent in which she lay at her home.

The youngster was under an oxygen tent in her bedroom, where twice a day she was receiving oxygen as treatment for asthma. It is believed that the oxygen had escaped into the room from a leak in the tent, and ignited from some unknown substance in the air. The explosion of the oxygen caused a flash fire in which the oxygen tent, constructed of flexi-glass, the air foam mattress on which Barbara was lying, and another mattress underneath, burned.

Barbara was in the room alone at the time. Her screams were heard by her mother who was in the kitchen feeding her two-year-old son, Michael. Mrs. Dukeman and another daughter, Janet, 14, found Barbara lying on the floor in flames. Janet quickly threw a pillow over her sister to smother the flames.

At City Hospital, where Barbara was rushed by a neighbor, she was treated for first and second degree burns on her hands, arms, chest and face.

The flash fire, caused by the explosion, burned the curtains of the room, scorched woodwork and the ceiling, and blackened the entire room. Smoke from the explosion ruined decorating in other rooms of the home, filling cupboards and closets.

The fire department answered a call to the home at 2:58 p.m., but the fire had burned out almost as suddenly as it started.

Born in Galion on Aug. 4, 1943, to Vaughn E. and Ruth Hanning Dukeman, she attended the fourth grade at South Elementary School here last year. She was a member of Brownie troop and the First Lutheran Church.

Surviving with her parents are: one sister, Janet, 14; one brother, Michael, 2; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Marie Durbin of Galion; and her maternal grandfather, Alfred Hanning of Barberton, O.

Funeral services will be held at the Snyder Funeral Home here at 2 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. Herbert S. Garnes Jr., pastor of the Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be at Fairview Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Doss Linked With Case in Seneca County

Possibility that ex-convict Raymond Doss, 56, of Marion was in southern Seneca County and molested a 10-year-old girl Tuesday noon was reported today.

Seneca County Sheriff John W. Dysard said Dorothy Lawrence, daughter of Ernest Lawrence of Eden Township, told him she was stopped by a man standing behind a two-toned green automobile as she rode her bicycle along a township road near her home.

Doss, who served 10 years in the London Prison Farm on a rape charge, is wanted for the kidnaping of a 12-year-old Wyandot County girl. He drives a two-tone green car.

The Seneca County girl was returning from a grocery store in Melmore about three-fourths of a mile south of her home and noticed the car parked along the road and a man standing in the ditch at the rear of it, she told Sheriff Dysard. Melmore is about five miles south of Tiffin.

When she got closer to the car, the man stepped from behind it and asked her if she knew where a Mrs. Jennings lived. She knew of no such person and, noticing the man was indecently exposed, quickly rode on.

Reports Green Car

A nearby farmer later reported seeing the two-tone green car but said he had not seen the driver. He described the car as being light green on top and dark green on the bottom. Descriptions of Doss' car are just the opposite with the dark green on top and the light green on the bottom.

Dorothy's description of the man also seemed to fit a Seneca County man who was once committed to the Tiffin State Hospital for indecent exposure, Sheriff Dysard said. This possibility was ruled out when the man was located in Sycamore and was later shown to Dorothy who said he positively wasn't the man who molested her. She said the man who stopped her "wasn't as fat."

Sheriff Dysard then called in Wyandot County Sheriff Dean McCallister who is familiar with Doss' description in connection with the kidnaping July 6 of 12-year-old Velma Jean Abbott of near Wyandot.

Dorothy described the man who molested her to Sheriff McCallister and he and Sheriff Dysard

Institute Records Humanity's March

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Smithsonian Institution, which harbors some of the 'strangest' collections in the world, is a collector's item in itself.

Its pinnacled, red stone buildings, facing the Mall between the Capitol and the Washington Monument, house everything from skeletons to airplanes, from bugs to brocades.

It operates the capitol's Zoological Park, the National Gallery of Art (Mellon Gallery) and the Freer Art Gallery, and it owns a tropical island in the Panama Canal Zone.

Sometimes the Smithsonian has taken a hand in political affairs. It has been a source of information for the armed services during four wars and it once urged Congress to snap up a bargain in real estate—Alaska.

The Smithsonian is a private institution. At the same time it is a financial ward of the government and is owned by every citizen in the country. But it was founded by a man who never even saw the United States.

An Englishman named James Smithson, at his death in 1829, left to this country $550,000 to found a "Smithsonian Institution, an establishment for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

The Smithsonian has explored almost every field of human knowledge and its scope is worldwide. During its more than 100 years, it has taken part in 1,500 scientific expeditions. It founded the nation's first weather bureau and its first commission on fish.

Its national museum houses a vast collection of Americana, including Alexander Graham Bell's first telephone, the Wright brothers' airplane, the original copy of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the first American automobiles. Here are the ball gowns of every first lady since Martha Washington—one of the finest collections of period costumes in America.

Tucked away in vaults are bones, fossils, birds, and ship models totaling 30,000,000 items. The Smithsonian sees no end to its collections. It will just keep on growing and changing with the growth and changes of the nation.

Homes of the Famous---1

1702. PERRY HOMESTEAD, Wakefield, R.I.

AP Newsfeatures

This small, gambrel-roofed house was the birthplace of Oliver Hazard Perry, who won the great naval victory over the British on Lake Erie, and of his younger brother, Matthew Gilbraith Perry, who opened up the ports of Japan to the entire world. The house has been called "the house that launched a fleet of ships." The land upon which the old homestead stands, has been in the Perry family, since 1702, when Benjamin Perry came here from Sandwich, Mass. It was thoroughly restored in 1929, by Mrs. Perry Tiffany, wife of the last descendant-owner. It is located on the old Kingston Road at Rocky Brook, in Wakefield, Rhode Island and is open to visitors during the summer months. It contains many relics of historic interest.

Career Diplomat

Walter S. Robertson

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter S. Robertson is a 59-year-old Virginian who comes into a room like a much younger man. He looks like one you'd pick, at first glance, for the job of calming people down.

That may have been a reason why President Eisenhower sent him to South Korea in June to talk to President Syngman Rhee. Another was the fact that he is assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

At the time, as he is now once more, Rhee was the biggest problem in the Far East. He was threatening to block a Korean truce. Rhee is an extraordinary man who needs more than ordinary handling. He got it from Robertson, now back here.

The trim Robertson looks like a relaxed and self-confident businessman, which he was: an investment banker in Richmond until Eisenhower tapped him for the State Department.

But, unlike some other State Department officials, past and present, Robertson is neither ponderous nor afflicted with that vague and rubbery kind of talk which grows like weeds in the language of diplomats.

This is not Robertson's first job with the government but he was never a career diplomat. If he has one outstanding quality it would seem to be his realism. He does not sound like a man looking for a silver lining.

He had been head of the U. S. lend-lease mission to Australia in 1943 and 1945. In 1945 and 1946 he had worked for the State Department in China, where he got to know intimately both Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government, and the leading Chinese Communists who were out to wreck Chiang.

He was part of the special mission, headed by Gen. George Marshall, which tried to get Chiang and the Communists to live up to a truce. Robertson illustrated foresight later, in 1948, when he testified before a House committee on postwar foreign aid.

Chiang he described as a patriot, and he urged Congress to give him all-out aid.

Otherwise, he said, the Communists would take China, which they did despite some U. S. help for Chiang. At the same time he made it clear he knew the Communists well.

"Some of them are my personal friends," he said. But he had no illusions about their intentions. He would have short patience with anyone who has the notion the Chinese Communists, like Yugoslavia's Tito, could be won away from Moscow. "They hate America," he said.

At the time Robertson went to Korea, Rhee had whipped himself and his people into a lather, threatening to fight the Chinese single-handed.

If Rhee was highly emotional, and even extreme in his position, it can be understood. He had devoted his whole life to one project: seeking independence for Korea, first from the Japanese and now from the Communists.

Robertson does not look upon Rhee as an eccentric. He considers him, as he considers Chiang, a great patriot, a man dedicated to his country.

Rhee was so emotionally charged that in his early meetings with Robertson—they had 12 altogether, the Virginian let the old man speak for 30 minutes without interruption to talk himself into calmness.

When he had apparently convinced Rhee his best course was to go along with the United States, the two men signed an agreement, which has never been made public, and wrote a joint statement, which was.

The statement was so vaguely worded it must have been intentional, perhaps to avoid for Rhee anything which might appear, in the eyes of his countrymen, as a capitulation to the United States.

For that reason what followed, at almost the very moment the statement was being made public, seems inexcusably crude, thoughtless and boastful:

Someone connected with Robertson's party, or some other government agency in the Far East, told correspondents Rhee had made concession after concession and even had exclaimed to Robertson: "You have conquered me."

For a sensitive, self-conscious man like Rhee that must have been a galling dose to swallow. It may even have been a factor in causing him later, along with other provocations, to blow up again and once more threaten the truce.

Public Service Department

It seems to have taken the Postoffice Committee of the House of Representatives by surprise that so many citizens want to testify against a proposed increase in postal rates.

Even more surprising than demand for a hearing, apparently, is what the witnesses have to say. The postal system in the United States, they are arguing, is not in the same category as a business operation.

It is, rather, in the category of a government department which performs a public service of such magnitude that it was collectivized and made an integral part of government. It is in the nature of other departments which perform in a similar manner in the fields of commerce, agriculture and labor.

These departments are not expected to pay their own way. While the Postoffice Department is different, in the sense that it has access to large amounts of revenue for the services it performs, it is possible to argue with fair logic that it shouldn't be expected to pay all of its own way either. It performs a public as well as a private service.

Somewhere between its status as a department of government and its character as a revenue-producing agency is a happy medium of half self-support and half dependency on taxation. That is where many of the witnesses appearing before the Postoffice Committee of the House think the postal system should be—where it was intended to be by the Founding Fathers.

A Fuzzy Invitation

It may have been mere coincidence, of course, but President Juan Peron in Argentina presented a plan for luring foreign capital to his troubled country just as Dr. Milton Eisenhower was arriving in Buenos Aires on a look-listen good will visit. Peron has a five-year plan for rehabilitating his country, which requires lots of American and other outside dollars. Foreign investments in Argentina's industries and agricultural enterprises have been dropping fast in the last five years, and to get the $4 billion more that his country needs, Peron has devised a plan to permit foreign capital to earn up to eight per cent after the first two years. He hopes this will improve his country's production and minimize need for foreign exchange outlays.

American investment dollars, to be sure, are brave; they are accustomed to taking chances with unpredictable governments. Yet on wonders, too, at the temerity of Senor Peron who in recent years has been a virtual dictator, and to prove this has fostered anti-Yanqui hatred and sternly controlled his country's newspapers, even silencing U. S. wire news agencies.

One Editor's Tribulations

The Daily Worker, Communist newspaper published in the U. S. with our tolerant permission because of our oft-strained free press tradition, the other day quoted verbatim a news story in another paper about an Ohio professor who had fasted 12 days in protest over the execution of "the atom spies, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg." The Daily Worker next day apologized for printing this clipping from "the capitalist press," and hastened to repeat that the Rosenbergs were not spies at all, but martyrs.

Communist writers and editors must have a hard time, indeed, finding or manufacturing things to print which indicate America has gone to seed, that democracy is a complete fizzle, that Mother Russia is a bed of roses, that under Communism everybody prospers, that treason by Americans is martyrdom but treachery in Russia is beloved service to the state. Editing a newspaper from the daily flood of factual news dispatches is hard enough. Surely editing one propaganda known to be fallacious must be soul-trying, indeed—even for a Red.

Government Buying Power

It always will be true that an ordinary citizen can't get the hang of a billion dollars, much less the hundreds of billions now involved in the national debt. But all of us ordinary citizens know a little bit about percentages.

It is no strain on our limited knowledge of finance to understand that if the retail price level were to go down one per cent that this would add one per cent to the buying power of a dollar in the retail market.

Since the federal government is the largest spender of dollars, a one per cent increase in its buying power would be a massive item. One per cent of a billion dollars is ten million dollars.

This should be kept in mind for the next few months, because it will not be called to public attention by any of the government spenders who will be telling taxpayers how government is being shoved to the wall by "economy."

It is now generally agreed that an economic readjustment of rather large proportions is in the offing. Some of the buying power of the dollar which was destroyed by inflation is about to be restored by deflation.

Hard money is coming back into style, which is good news for spenders who want to make dollars go further. Government spenders will share in the benefits.

Crack in U.N. Unity

Senate Committee Denounces Trade With Reds

A well-documented report by a Senate committee which virtually accuses America's Allies in the U. N. of faithlessness in allowing strategic goods to reach Communist China while the armies of that country have been engaged in a war with our troops now has been available for several days to the foreign offices of the world.

The big question is what the U. N. will do about it, and what in particular the Allies will have to say in justification of their trade with the common enemy.

If the principle of "going it alone" and trade-as-each-nation-pleases is upheld as in accord with modern morality in wartime, it will injure permanently the cause of international cooperation in this country.

Indeed, back in the '30's it was this issue which wrecked the League of Nations, because the Allies refused to impose embargoes on oil against Mussolini when he began his overseas war against Ethiopia—an aggression which emboldened the dictators later to assume that the Allies wouldn't fight as a team, and hence a chance could be taken on a general war in Europe.

The Senate committee report brings out the fact that "Our own large military machine uses only approximately 40,000 tons of natural rubber per year." The same report discloses that, while the United States government prohibited the shipment of any rubber to the Reds, "In 1951 the free world exported 146,000 tons of natural rubber to the Soviet bloc, and in 1952 the Communist nations received 194,000 tons of natural rubber from the free world."

England sent 42,000 tons of natural rubber to Russia alone in 1951, and in 1952 about 88,000 tons were exported to that country, according to the Senate committee report.

Naural rubber was so important to Soviet Russia that it constituted 90 per cent of the dollar volume of her purchases from the United Kingdom last year.

"Under these circumstances," says the report, "it can, therefore, be assumed that the USSR is not only receiving ample natural rubber for her immediate military needs, but she is also stockpiling this material for later use."

Rubber is used mostly on trucks and airplanes, and the vast supply lines which the Reds have had to the front in Korea could never have been maintained in the last three years of fighting if it had not been for motor transportation.

Yet the British do not officially consider rubber to be a "strategic" material for Soviet Russia, the source of supply for North Korea.

The same Senate committee report says that, since the outbreak of the Korean War, non-Communist countries have carried on a trade of $2 billion with Red China, and adds: "Even after three years of war this trade is not only flourishing but is increasing between many of our Allies and China."

The Senate committee report says that the United States Government has been striving to get this trade curtailed but that the Allies have not been willing to go along.

Thus the government of Ceylon, a member of the British Commonwealth, made a deal with Red China to supply 50,000 tons of natural rubber a year for five years and to take payment in rice.

The United States under the Truman administration tried to buy the same rubber from Ceylon but was unwilling to be held up for an extortionate price.

The Ceylon government promptly arranged to send the rubber to Red China in Communist ships, but the return cargoes were carried mostly in British ships.

"Ninety - five per cent of the blood and money expended in Korea by the United Nations," says the Senate committee report, "has been American.

"Under these circumstances the subcommittee is of the opinion that all of our Allies should be willing to discontinue their trade with our mutual enemy, the Chinese Communists.

"It should also be emphasized that when and if a Korean truce is signed, it is a truce and nothing more than that.

"Until we have peace in the Orient, we and our Allies should not relax our vigilance so as to allow an upsurge in trade which would enable the Communists to repair and rebuild their war machine."

"While our Allies who are engaging in this trade with Red China give many economic reasons why they should continue this profitable business, there is no logical or moral reason why any nation should trade with the enemy during a period of armed conflict."

The report was signed by a subcommittee of four Republicans—Senators Potter, Dirksen, McCarthy, and Mundt—but it was largely the staff work of Francis D. Flanagan and Robert F. Kennedy, the latter a son of the former American ambassador to Great Britain, Joseph Kennedy, and a brother of Sen. Kennedy.

It Would Be Too Soon

By TRUMAN TWILL

Additions to my list of things which still would be heard of too soon if they were never heard of again:

Stories about the nice efficient Germans and how they are going to be on our side in the next war;

Pictures of pimps and racketeer in the custody of law-enforcement officers, all grinning from ear to ear;

Headline hunters in Washington, who neglect the state of the nation in favor of their personal interests;

All baseball dope stories which give credence to the wishful thinking of the owners of a certain American League baseball club;

All pictures and descriptions of beef-sized freaks who are making a holy show out of what used to be a game that 11 willing men carried on with a football and a certain amount of bravado;

All further exploitation of the stupidity of bloodthirsty spectators who can be stimulated into a state of frenzy by a couple of wrestlers shedding either blood or catsup, as the case may be;

Wisecracks about women drivers—the kind of wisecracks amusing only to men drivers who haven't anything else to feel superior about so they make fun of women;

All anecdotes purporting to find anything funny in the plight of the befuddled creatures known as bee-boppers, for want of a more accurate name;

The jargon which helped to foul up the Korean war, with insane patter about "people's armies" and "united nations," plus the unpardonable affront of calling a stalling session a "truce parley;"

Photographs of presidents of the United States posing with people who should have more pride in Americanism than to clutter up the White House with tawdry publicity stunts to start off pet projects;

Television flashbacks on glamor boys and girls of yesteryear who are no longer boys and girls and no longer glamorous and owe it to their former fans to stay decently out of sight, beyond the contempt of youngsters who didn't "know then when;"

Slacks on any women other than poor working girls constrained by dire necessity to wear them for honest toil;

The bogus claim that all pay raises constitute inflation, unless they are "merit raises" bestowed on the kind of people who do all the talking about what other people are contributing to inflation;

Advertising blurbs about ever-faster automobiles, in view of the facts, people are no smarter now than they were in the Year 1 when all travel was on foot at four miles an hour;

Theorizing about the two-party system as if it were a fixed star instead of two loose collections of angry, confused Americans a lot madder at other members of their own party than at the political opposition.

People who leer at other people when the weather turns stinking hot and is unfit for man or beast and ask breezily, "Is it hot enough for you?"

Science, Industry Finding Uses for Sound

By Tom Dawson

LONDON

Joshua became the first honorary professor of sonic science when he demolished the walls of Jericho by a shattering trumpet blast.

Yet for some 3,000 years after that date the "science of sound" languished.

When singers broke wine glasses by holding a high "C" note, it was regarded as an amusing trick, not as a practical demonstration of a powerful, untapped form of energy.

Today sonic science has re-emerged from the clouds of history, and scientists are finding hundreds of new medical and industrial uses for sound waves, sometimes inaudible to the human ear.

Skin diseases, such as boils and carbuncles, have been successfully treated by ultrasonics. Using high frequency sound waves from a nickel tube in an electromagnetic field, cells of the disease-forming bacteria are broken up in a few seconds.

The waves also free enzymes, which are collected and used to prepare serum for immunization against these diseases.

In America and Germany experiments are well advanced for the treatment of arthritis by a similar method.

In Britain, chemists have successfully used high-power ultrasonics to prepare artifical blood plasma, and this process is expected to be rapidly developed on a large scale.

"Elementary" demonstrations on the power of sound waves have achieved amazing results.

At rising frequencies, beginning at vibrations of around 1,000,000 cycles per second, flies can be dazed and picked off the wall, cockroaches and other insects killed, mice stunned, cigarets lit, fires started, water boiled and meat cooked.

It is in shipping, however, that ultrasonics has so far met with its greatest commercial success. Sound waves are easily beamed great distances through water and the marine echo sounder is widely used to locate underwater obstructions, measure the sea depth, fix the position of wrecks and locate shoals of fish.

Pulses from the ship's transmitter are sent to and reflected from any underwater obstruction and from the sea bed.

These pulses are then picked up by the ship's receiver, and the time difference between the outgoing and incoming "beat" gives the distance to the sea bed or any obstruction.

This marine sounding device enables deep sea fishermen to gauge the right depth for fishing, and often to trace schools of fish.

The echo whale finder, for example, is the modern harpoon gunner's "sixth sense." Underwater changes of direction by the whale previously "blinded" the gunner. Now a continuous trace of the course of the whale comes to him from the returning echoes of the giant target, caught in the beam of the echo sounder.

British scientists such as those at the national physical laboratory, Teddington, near London, have discovered encouraging and varied industrial uses for sound waves.

Heavy oil stains on fabrics, which cost the trade serious loss each year, have been successfully removed by high-pitched sound vibrations in experiments at the British Rayon Research Association's laboratories.

Food flavors have been improved in processing by sound waves, and on the continent of Europe this method is used commercially to speed up the maturing of wines and spirits.

In Sweden chocolates are sound-processed and it is claimed that the vibrations not only mix the constituents but improve the flavor.

Powerful new generators have been made which will enable ultrasonics to be used on a large scale against dust and smoke.

The sound beam from a generator attached to an industrial chimney causes the bigger specks of carbon to adhere together, so that they are easily recovered.

Industry throughout the northwest of England is making increasing use of new tools which harness sound. Ultrasonic soldering irons, thickness gauges and even drills are being used.

Measuring and testing devices, based on a similar principle to the marine echo sounder, are gauging, probing and testing metals for flaws in factories. Rubber tires immersed in water are being tested for flaws by sound waves.

So the scientists write a fresh chapter to a story which began with Joshua 3,000 years ago.

Marvels of Nature

By Thomas R. Henry

One of nature's marvels is the nest of the Penduline titmouse.

Specimens of this most curious of bird homes have been brought back to the Smithsonian Institution from the great Kalahari desert, of South Africa, by Dr. Charles O. Handley Jr.

The titmouse itself is distantly related to the American chickadee. Its nest is in the form of a small bag, pendulant from thron bushes, very intricately and delicately woven from a woollike plant fiber.

The bag has one visible opening — a false one which leands nowhere and apparently is intended entirely as camouflage. The real entrance to the nest, if skillfully hidden, has a location known only to the builder.

When the mother bird enters the nest, she lifts a concealed flap, slips through, and closes it behind her. She closes it just as carefully when she leaves the nest. There is not the slightest indication in the surface of the finely woven fiber of the existence of the flap.

These nests are among more than 1,500 specimens — preponderantly of small mammals — obtained by Handley for the U.S. National Museum collections.

Prominent among the mammal specimens are those of "uhwas," wild relatives of the house cat. They are grayish-brown animals, about the size of domestic cats, and are wild and vicious. They are abundant, Handley found, throughout the Kalahari.

Speared, or caught in snares, they are eaten by the Bushman women, who also eat other small mammals, such as rats and mice. The women's diet is supplemented with snakes, ants and grasshoppers.

Such creatures are prohibited to men, who can eat only the flesh of strong animals. Some animals especially small birds, can be eaten only by children.

One of the most conspicuous small animals of the great desert is the elephant shrew. A little creature with large eyes, big ears, and thin, kangaroolike legs, it is described by Handley as "more like the traditional idea of an elf than anthing else I can imagine."

Tame and friendly, these creatures often are seen skipping between bushes and patches of tall grass in which they live.

16 — Bulganin and Zhukov toss in plans to the same end but with fewer commas and semicolons.

17 — This results in such a state of nervous tension, general alertness and personal furtiveness that each member is penalized 15 yards for clipping.

18 — It is decided to postpone the adoption of any plan and trust to luck, trickery, tomorrow's developments and bullet-proof vests.

19 — Address by Malenkov, "My Plans for a Greater Russia."

20 — Address by Molotov, "Look Who's Talking."

21 — Half - hour interlude for thinking up new invectives for democracies, people who wish to live their own lives, Ike Eisenhower and anybody who thinks the inventors of the telephone, the electric light and the telegraph were Bell, Edison and Morse.

23 — Proposal for roll call. The speaker is reminded that there have already been a couple of roll calls. The speaker replies, "I know, but that was an hour and a half ago. How can I be sure we are ALL here now"

24 — The others agree this makes sense and take another roll call. It still shows nobody missing.

25 — An immediate resolution is adopted declaring this must be due to hirelings and renegades.

For a Noisy Fourth

By FRANK TRIPP

This was written Fourth of July morning, just after breakfast, while looking across Seneca Lake, over the impatient, unhappy heads of a dozen children, 4 to 12, who appeared and disappeared, trying to figure some way to celebrate the Ever Glorious.

Two or three of them had tiny paper caps that they pounded between beach stones, under the longing eyes of groups that gathered about them. The explosions were little louder than the snap of a parlor match when lighted with the thumb nail.

But it was a noise and was significant of a day and a freedom which has been wrested from children—the right to make whoopee on the Fourth of July. Some had never seen a firecracker.

I OVERHEARD the exaggerated tale of what childlife was in "the olden days," as a boy of 11 described a Fourth of his "youth." How he put the neighborhood on the bum at 4 a.m. with a firecracker "big as a fire hydrant" and took charge of an all-day demonstration; so many dynamite crackers that he had some left when dark came and his skyrockets and Roman candles tailed off a boisterous occasion such as his young listeners would never see.

The little liar was around 3 when the last of such celebrations took place, legally. The extent to which he participated was the swishing of a few sparklers, lighted by his elders who watched him like hawks.

To hear him tell it he was the custodian, manipulator and detonator of a gigantic arsenal of explosives which shook the countryside from dawn to midnight; the hero of the day "when the Fourth of July meant something — now look at it; you kids'll never know!" he concluded in doleful disgust.

"WHEN THE Fourth of July meant something." The little fellow said a mouthful, I thought—and reached for my pen.

Fanny and Anna jumped in the car and went to Watkins, looking for anything noisy, from the courtyard cannon to a Model T. They returned empty-handed. Watkins was law-abiding, or sold out; I'm not sure which.

I thought of my shotgun and rifles. No, not those for kids, but if I'd had any blank shells I would have weakened. I was that sorry for them. There was the Yacht Club cannon down the beach, which Teddy had dared fire at 6 a.m., but only enough shells remained to signal the afternoon's sailboat race.

There wasn't a balmed thing around the place to make a bang that didn't have a dangerous bullet connected to it. I was ashamed of myself. Back in town, 30 miles away, was my pistol and a whole box of .32 blanks. "You are a hell of a patriot," I thought.

—:—

"WHEN THE Fourth of July meant something." I keep hearing those words from a child. They disturb me.

Though wisely done, to save life and limb, why did we take the bang out of the Fourth without something to take its place in the lives of our children?

It was so significant to them, so expressive of how came the independence of their country and the freedom in which they live. It taught them patriotism and gratitude that whole libraries cannot impart. It made them the reincarnation of the minutemen who fired muskets at Lexington and Concord; of the pioneers who blazed the trails across the continent; of everything that was daring and courageous in American history.

We have robbed our posterity of an exemplification of valor that made us better Americans, better citizens. And we live to hear little people saying, "When the Fourth of July meant something."

IT IS a challenge. For the future of our nation, we should set about to make the next Fourth "mean something" to the smallest of our little ones; some way for all of them to participate and be a part of the most important anniversary in the history of their country.

And it should be noisy. They understand noice—respond to it.

Wedding Unites Pvt. Keith Stanley And Miss Thome

A gown of white Chantilly lace and white satin was worn by Miss Karen Marcella Thome when she became the bride on June 29 of Pvt. Keith Ray Stanley. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thome, 607 Oak St., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stanley, 714 Davids St.

The bodice of lace buttoned to the waist in the back with self-covered buttons, and the skirt of white satin, beneath two layers of white nylon net, extended into a long cathedral train. The sleeves ended in points over the hands. A Juliet cap trimmed with white seed pearls held her fingertip-length veil. Her jewelry was a double strand chocker of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

The ceremony took place in St. Mary Catholic Church and the nuptials were read at 10 o'clock in the morning by the Rev. Thomas Lowery, assistant pastor of St. Mary.

Organist was Miss Peggy Dennis, and vocal music was by the St. Mary Choir.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Kathleen Granger, and bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Niggemeyer and Miss Carol Stanley, sister of the bridegroom.

Their gowns were fashioned alike of net over taffeta, with Mrs. Granger in yellow, Miss Niggemeyer in pink and Miss Stanley in light green. The strapless bodices had pleated net over taffeta and the skirts, with overskirts of tiered net, were worn over hoops. They wore matching net stoles. The matron of honor carried a colonial bouquet of yellow shattered carnations, and the bridesmaid's bouquets were of pink shattered carnations. Their headdresses were bands of carnations to hatch their bouquets.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was his twin brother, Pvt. Kenneth Stanley, and ushers were Richard Stanley, another brother of the bridegroom, Francis Thome, brother of the bride, and Richard Rech.

A reception for 100 guests was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was decorated with lighted candles in crystal holders and tied with ribbons in her chosen wedding colors. Bouquets of asters, gladioli and delphinium were throughout the house.

Serving were Miss Mary Nicolosi, Miss Judy Rhinehart, Miss Joan Tobin and Miss Judy Schill.

When the couple left on a wedding trip through Pennsylvania, Mrs. Stanley was wearing a red and white cotton polka dot dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Stanley is a graduate of St. Mary High School, class of 1952, and is employed at the Marion Engineer Depot. She is residing with her parents while Pvt. Stanley is in the Army. He and his twin brother are at present stationed at Indiantown Gap, Pa., awaiting a furlough and then an assignment to overseas service. Pvt. Stanley was graduated from Harding High School, class of 1952, and before entering service was employed at the Marion Engineer Depot.

At the rehearsal party Sunday afternoon, June 28, at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Thome presented costume jewelry to her attendants, and Pvt. Stanley gave cuff links to his best man and ushers.

Guests from out of the city were Mrs. L. B. King and Mrs. Phyllis Smith and son of Lincoln Park, Mich., Mrs. Allison King of Flat Rock, Mich., Mrs. Dora Deters of Hamler, O., Mrs. Gerald Bordner of Napoleon, L. Burr of Massillon, James Irvin of West Point, and Mrs. Rosemary Lee of Delaware.

Prof. Predictions Prove Accurate

URBANA, Ill., (INS)—What happens when a college professor attempts to predict the career success or failure of his engineering students?

In the case of Professor E. B. Paine, former head of the engineering department of the University of Illinois, the students returned almost 50 years later—and proved the accuracy of his predictions.

As the class of 1915 gathered on the Illinois campus for its annual reunion, Professor Paine, now 78, dusted off some of the character analyses and job aptitude ratings given to his electrical engineering students of '15.

A review of the records revealed that those rated excellent achieved outstanding success, usually in the fields in which the faculty had indicated they were likely to excell.

Among the class of '15 at the review were E. Allan Williford, president of Link Aviation, Inc., and William T. Reace, vice president in charge of sales, Commonwealth Edison Company of Illinois.

Records showed Williford had been rated as the best "all-around" student. Reace was judged the best for "commercial" engineering.

Another student given a high rating, Clifford F. Hood, is now president of the United States Steel Corporation.

Paine told the class the ratings were based on personal habits, mental capabilities, personal impression on others, reliability, self-reliance, personal popularity, accuracy and mental speed.

Did the professor find any of the predictions were wrong?

Paine smiled wryly. "About the only surprises," he said, were outstanding successes by some who had been rated poor students."

Super-Secret

By Inez Robb

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.

It never occurred to me that someday I would have to pledge my life, my fortune and my sacred honor to review a book, or that I would need a pearl-handled pistol as well as a typewriter to accomplish the task.

But then, I reckoned without Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey and the most avidly awaited publication of the twentieth century "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." This companion piece to "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male" is to be legally published early in the autumn. Dr. Kinsey's biggest task at the moment is to prevent hunbry, rival publishers from taking a premature ride on the gravy train with a pirated, abridged or telescoped version of the Kinsey work before the genuine article hits the stands.

BLOOMINGTON, once famous as the seat of Indiana University, but now as the home of the Kinsey report, is said to be suffering from an influx of manuscript-nappers. As a result, the good doctor has had to batten down the hatches and institute stern security measures to prevent the greatest literary steal of a generation.

Thus, before I was permitted to set foot in Bloomingtonmuch less Wylie Hall, the university building out of which Dr. Kinsey operates—I had to pledge my life, my fortune and my sacred honor not to reveal a word of the new book before the general release date, 6 p.m., Central Standard Time, August 20, 1953.

THIS INVOLVED signing a three page, single-space, typewritten agreement solemnly promising not to talk to nobody, no time, nowhere until D-day.

Well, I can clam up as good as the next reporter, so here I am.

But I had not counted on the manuscript-nappers, or the million-dollar albatross around my neck. That is why I could use the pearl-handled pistol if I had it.

Because the albatross is the complete proof sheets of Dr. Kinsey's "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." They make a bundle four inches thick, weighing five pounds, and I do not sleep very well with them under my pillow.

WHEN Dr. Kinsey handed me the proofs to read, I thought I would surely be escorted into a strongly fortified room and placed under guard for the duration.

"Take these back to your hotel room and read them," the doctor said instead. "But when you leave your room, be sure to put the proofs in your suitcase and lock it, and then lock the room door.

"And no matter how fine the weather, do not read the proofs out-of-doors," he contiued sternly.

"There are too many persons around who would do anything to get a look at them."

I picked up the bundle of proof sheets and staggered back to my room, looking furtively behind me as I crossed the campus. The trees out here have awfully big trunks, just right for lurking literary highbinders. And there's an awful lot of shrubbery on this campus.

DR. KINSEY had already told me he had turned down one offer of $100,000 for a condensation of his book. And men will do anything for that much dough. Do anything—do anything. Why, that's what the man said.

Well, I finally reached my room without being high-jacked. But I haven't had a really comfortable moment since. With scholarly second-story workers swarming in Bloomington, I am afraid to go out of the room and leave the proof sheets unprotected. And yet I look awfully silly toting a big red suitcase everywhere I go.

All in all, it is a terrible responsibility and I wish I either had a pistol or knew a good literary fence.

Galion Approves Reservoir Motion

Special to The Star

GALION—A deficit of $22,223.22 is anticipated by city officials for 1954, it was noted when public reading of the budget for next year was held at Tuesday night's regular meeting of City Council. The budget was adopted by Council to be submitted to the Crawford County auditor. Total expenditures for 1954 were set at $206,390. General fund receipts were estimated at $80,000.

The only ordinance pased by Council was one accepting the proposal of the Erie Railroad Co. to furnish the city with a quit-claim deed for the railroad company's reservoirs. The amount of $3,000, from the water improvement fund, was allowed in the ordinance to pay the railroad for the reservoirs. The ordinance was passed after it had a third reading.

Council adopted a resolution to proceed with the improvement of S. East St. by installation of 969 feet of sanitary sewer. New industries in the area require the sewer improvement.

Plans and specifications, and estimated cost for the improvement of Murray and High streets, South East street and Boston street, by installation of sanitary sewers, was presented by Kenneth Shaffer, city engineer.

A motion was made that the health commissioner be given authority to notify anyone and act in accordance to the rules and regulations of the state department of health in putting substances into sewers that would be detrimental to the health of citizens.

Man Has 3 Accidents In 4 Blocks, Is Fined

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Traffic Judge James Bemopolos observed that three accidents in a four-block stretch are just too much and fined Andrew Robert White, 28, of Tulsa, $80.

Officers said White's car sideswiped two parked cars, crashed into a service station office, then jumped a curb and plunged into a concrete embankment.

White pleaded guilty but professed ignorance of the accidents, telling the judge: "I work up in Tulsa."

A BRIDE AT 12 YEARS. Twelve-year-old Mrs. Charles Cannon embraces her husband, 17, a grocery clerk at Centerville, Tenn. Like many another bride, she's a bit touchy about her age. "I'm not 12," she protests, "I'm 13—next Tuesday, that is." She and Cannon were married at Corinth, Miss., after a weekend elopement misfired.

Gerald "Babe" Spicer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Spicer of 345 Uhler Ave., is the driver of a 2½ ton M-109 van for the 358th Signal Radar Maintenance Unit and a generator mechanic at Fort Banks, Winthrop, Mass. Spicer does all repair work on his truck and is noted for his driving ability as well as keeping the truck ready to go at all times, the Public Information Office at Fort Banks reported. A major at Fort Banks commented, "It has the cleanest engine I have ever seen in a military vehicle. A person can lift the hood and see a blue and gold engine with pipes and tubes that they could see their face in." Spicer was a student at Morral High School and was secretary for the FFA. He is also a member of the Tried and True Class at the Greenwood EUB Church.

Cop Makes Pinch But Suspect Eats Evidence

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sgt. Edwin Taylor caught his suspect yesterday, but the man he was arresting ate the evidence.

Taylor testified 36-year-old Billie E. Williams stuffed a wad of "conventional yellow lottery tickets" into his mouth.

Taylor said when he tried to pry the tickets out, the Negro defendant "bit down as hard as he could on my finger and wouldn't let go."

Then he swallowed the evidence.

Williams was held in $2,500 bail on a lottery charge and another $500 bail on a charge of assaulting a policeman.

'Ulcer Worship'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Lady, do you have an ulcer?

If not, why not? Particularly, if you are in the business world, why not? Are you letting your own fair sex down by refusing to have an ulcer?

Men used to enjoy almost as much of a monopoly on ulcers as women did on motherhood. Not any more. In a century that believes in fair play for all, modern women are no longer denied the right to acquire ulcers as well as money.

Some experts believe ulcers are becoming increasingly common in both men and women.

But why?

Are more men getting ulcers as a result of the fact they feel insecure because they have to compete professionally with women? Dr. Lawrence E. Hinkle, Jr., a Cornell University medical professor, leans to this theory. And, he added, "more women have ulcers now than when they stayed home and let their husbands make the decisions."

It seems to me that in this theory science stumbles and falls flat on its premises. Since when did women, merely because they stayed home and had babies, let their husbands make the major decisions? In what distant clime, what golden age of mythology, was this ever true?

The art of making up her husband's mind for him in important matters has been woman's most sterling virtue in all civilizations. It is this power of final decision that probably has kept her free of ulcers for so long.

My theory is that making decisions is less likely to cause ulcers than postponing decisions. This, of course, easily explains why men always have had more ulcers in the past. They got them from worrying while waiting for their wives to make up their minds for them.

But why, then, are both more men and more women getting ulcers today? Have modern women lost the feminine ability to decide? Are, they adrift, confused, and muddled, thus dooming themselves and the weaker male sex that leans upon them to an ulcer-ridden future?

Not at all. Not for that reason anyway. Her invasion of the male business world hasn't befuddled woman. Nothing about men confuses a woman. At best it can only annoy her — but not enough to give her an ulcer.

I think one of the real reasons for the increase of ulcers lies in the spread of a new business cult known as "ulcer worship." The ulcer is less an ailment than a badge of success, the proof that a real go-getter has been ceaselessly going and getting.

Ulcer idolatry has reached such a point in some fields, notably advertising, television and movie-making, that anyone who works five years in these vineyards without developing an ulcer is regarded suspiciously as hopelessly shiftless, a secret malcontent, or a born showof.

This has given rise to the false, or guilt complex, ulcer.

"The boss has got a bad ulcer, and if I don't get one, too, he will start thinking I'm not doing my fair share of worrying," reasons this victim. And sure enough, he comes down with an ulcer. You don't have to stand in line for them. They're free.

But there is a flat rule of thumb in such cases. If the boss has two ulcers, no wise hired hand will start bragging he himself has three. That might give the boss the idea your ulcers came from worrying how to get his job.

The social and business advantages of an ulcer are obvious. It is an excuse to drink or eat as little or much as you like, get out of dull parties or conferences, and act as cranky as you want to, on the grounds "it isn't me acting up—it's that darned old ulcer."

Is it any surprise, then, that ulcers are now more popular with both sexes? The wonder is that women ever let men monopolize the ulcer for so long.

Why, it is far, far too good a thing for men. They never really knew what to do with it. Watch the ulcer grow, now that women have discovered its true possibilities.

Erie Reports Higher Income

First-Half Earnings Are $2.40 a Share

CLEVELAND — Erie Railroad net income for the first half of 1953 was $6,895,917 or $2.40 per share of common stock before capital and sinking funds, Paul W. Johnston, president, announced today. In the same period last year, net income was $5,223,632 or $1.72 per share.

Operating revenues for six months totaled $91,150,282 as compared with $86,019,831 a year ago, an increase of $5,130,451 or six percent. Operating expenses were $66,413,506 as against $66,271,382, an increase of $142,124, less than one percent.

June revenues totaled $15,817,148, an increase of $3,145,403 or 24.8 per cent over the same month last year when the steel strike was in effect. Expenses were $11,588,042 as against $10,915,217, an increase of $672,825 or 6.2 percent.

Cars loaded on the Erie and received from connecting lines for the first 16 days of July were 45.5 percent above the same period last year when steel mills were still shut down because of strike, and 7.5 percent less than last month, reflecting the seasonal trend.

Vast Job In Chemical Use Lies in Future

NEW YORK (UP) — A large-scale attack on the nature and control of virus diseases, mental disorders, cancer, heart and circulatory diseases through an extension of basic research is perhaps the most important assignment facing America's test-tube warriors.

A recently-published Manufacturing Chemists' Association Facts Book said that research screening programs on the thousands of chemical compounds that have been made but not thoroughly investigated may yield the answer to the cure to the common cold, which affects the average American twice annually, and other infectious and degenerative diseases.

The Federal Security Administration estimates that, despite advances in recent medical science, illness and premature death cost Americans $38,000,000,000 annually.

The use of medicinal chemicals of all kinds is expected to increase greatly. Many will be taken for promoting good health rather than for curing diseases. New antibiotics, plasma volume expanders, synthetic hormone compounds and new chemotherapeutic agents will see greater inroads made on the forces that prey on man's health, according to the collected facts.

Two Promising

How men of science have striven to check disease and increase man's life span was illustrated by a recent survey by MCA in the book, which points out that four out of five medicines and drugs widely used today were unknown 10 years ago.

The Facts Book said that of the 14,000 medicinal chemicals tested for anti-malarial activity, only two have shown promise. Only four anti-spasmodic drugs out of hundreds tested and classified are now widely used. Only eight of more than 5,000 pain-relieving compounds developed have passed tests with flying colors.

To develop one of the newest wide-range antibiotics, a team eventually numbering 55 scientists spent two and one-half years examinging 100,000 soil samples at an approximate cost of $4,000,000.

It has been estimated that $25,000,000 was spent during the past five years for research in the development of ACTH, cortisone and other pituitary and adrenal hormones. It will be many years before profits equal the research expenditures.

Some Successes

Success in reducing mortality and sickness in the hazardous first years of life is one of the proudest achievements of public health and medical science. Products of chemical research have played a leading part in helping the medical profession reduce deaths to 32 per 1,000 births—less than half the rate 20 years ago.

Sulfa drugs and penicillin have given the final knockout blow to scarlet fever fatalities, and gamma globulin has been increasingly recognized as effective in preventing or modifying measles, and in curbing outbreaks of poliomyelitis.

Revolutionary advances in control of infections has drastically reduced the death rate from such diseases as pneumonia, tonsilitis and appendicitis.

New medicinal chemicals also share credit for reducing hospitalization periods. Heads of 2,500 hospitals with 11,945,500 admissions report the present average length of stay at 7.8 days from a 10-day average occupancy duration in 1941-42.

The Facts Book said that to make the human life-span longer and more useful, the chemical industry must enlist the special aptitudes of a larger number of young scientists, and added:

"The virility and momentum of chemical enterprise must be maintained so that men of promise will have the incentive to fill the great gaps that exist in our knowledge of biologic science."

Jabara Slated For Desk Job

First U.S. Jet Ace Unhappy at Prospect

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Maj. James A. Jabara, America's first jet ace and one of only two triple jet aces, is home from Korea for the second time today—a little worried because he is slated for a desk job.

Two years ago the 29-year-old son of a Wichita, Kan., grocer shot down six Red MIGs in Korea and then wrangled permission to go back and down nine more. He confessed:

"I'm really sweating this one out—I don't know what I'll do in an office."

The much-decorated Jabara flew in yesterday evening. A short time later he left in an Air Force jet for Las Vegas, Nev., en route home to his wife and two children at McKinney, Tex.

A short, dark smiling man who dutifully puffed on a big cigar for photograpers, Jabara was deadly serious when he discussed his 163 missions in Korea.

MIG pilots, he said, didn't seem to be lacking any in experience or numbers, but recently they haven't been as aggressive as two years ago. Now, United Nations pilots have to hunt diligently for them, and often the Reds break off combat and take sanctuary north of the Yalu in Manchuria.

U. S. pilots, Jabara said, have been taking special care in avoiding the Yalu for fear of disrupting the truce talks at Panmunjom, and have thus lost several good chances to down the Communist jet fighters.

Only when it came to his future did Jabara show any hesitation. He is bound for duty with the 32nd Air Division headquarters at Syracuse, N. Y.

"It's a desk job, I'm afraid," he said. "But it's an air defense outfit and maybe they'll let me fly once in a while."

Bond Issue Slated In Hardin County

Special toThe Star

KENTON—Hardin County commissioners Wednesday in a resolution ordered the county auditor to start procedure on a bond issue not to exceed $600,000 for the construction and equipping of a new Hardin county infirmary with hospital facilities.

The old infirmary was condemned recently by the State Division of Factory and Business Inspection.

The old building, 87 years old, is far overcrowded and a potential fire trap. The plumbing system is outdated and sanitation is poor. Plans have not been drawn up for the new building but it will probably be a one-floor structure.

A British Lament For The Steam Automobile

LONDON (UP) — The Manchester Guardian recently printed this letter from a reader lamenting that the steam automobile is no more:

"A recent advertisement in your paper stressing the speed of a sports car—124 miles per hour over the flying mile—reminds me that in 1906 a Stanley steam car beat this figure by doing 127 miles per hour—and this without the benefit of the intensive development which has been put into the internal combustion-engined car.

"If the steamer had had the concentration devoted to its design which the petrol car has had, motoring in Britain today would be several million dollars cheaper and the dollar gap proportionately less. In addition, we should have much less noise in streets and country-side, as steam cars are as silent as electrically driven vehicles."

Rhee

be unified by peaceful means after an armistice, that the war so far had served the purpose of preventing Red conquest of all Korea.

Finally, having obtained promises of a mutual security pact, economic and military help and the closest political consultation, Rhee told Robertson--supposedly in writing—that he would not obstruct an armistice.

Robertson left Seoul, therefore, with Rhee's assurances but he also left, in part at the old man's insistence, with some questions still to be clarified or given further consideration in Washington. These included principally questions of the precise wording of a mutual security pact and the size of a promised aid program. They also included the question of what the final U. S. attitude would be if political efforts to unify Korea failed and the war was started up again by Rhee.

Rhee had told Robertson his government desired most the active participation of the United States in an effort to rid Korea of the Communists. But he said if that was not possible he urgently required U. S. moral and material support.

Last Sunday the chief truce negotiator for the United Nations Command, Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., was disclosed to have told the Reds July 11 that the U.N. Command would not support any "aggressive action" of South Korean units "in violation of the armistice."

This, according to information here, caused Rhee to hit the ceiling because it struck so directly at his central desire to keep the way open for later military operation toward Korean unity.

Rhee said at Seoul yesterday South Korea would give a post-war political conference 90 days to persuade the Chinese Reds to get out of North Korea and if this failed his government would act as it saw fit.

Family Finds Pet Deer Makes Good 'Watchdog'

HORNELL, N. Y. (U.P.)—A pet deer serves as "watchdog" for the Arcieri family here.

The family found a fawn beneath an evergreen tree in May of last year and reared it on a nursing bottle.

The deer never is confined, except during the open season on deer, with special permission of the conservation department.

The animal is as good at watching over the house property as any dog, according to Mrs. Arcieri. It will play with neighborhood dogs until they become rough. Then the deer rolls them over and pummels them with its hoofs.

R.G. Haldeman Heads Traffic Fund Drive

Marion City Councilman Robert G. Haldeman was elected chairman of the newly appointed citizen's committee to raise funds for a proposed master traffic survey at an organization meeting held Wednesday night at the YMCA.

A. F. Busch, chairman of a joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce Streets and Highways and Grade Crossing Elimination committees, called the meeting. Only business carried on was the election of officers and appointment of an eight-member executive committee.

Other officers elected to head the 54-member citizens committee were John V. Ruth, vice chairman; Mrs. Florence W. Ritzler, secretary; and Francis Huber, treasurer.

Named to the executive committee were Floyd G. Browne, Busch, Russell Butterworth, Carroll Davidson, H. G. Roby, Louis Conkle, Mrs. Bertha Stewart, and Newton Cunningham.

The executive committee will lay plans for raising $12,000 still needed to finance the traffic survey and these plans will be announced at the next meeting of the citizen's committee, Busch said.

Total cost of the survey which is planned to make a complete study of all traffic problems in and around Marion including grade crossing elimination, is estimated at $20,000. Marion City Council has set aside $6,000 as its share and county commissioners have committed themselves to appropriate $2,000 as their share of the cost when the citizen's committee raises $12,000.

The citizen's committee was elected at a public meeting called by Busch and held at the State Street Junior High School about two weeks ago. Date and time of the next meeting will be announced later.

Korea

toured the critical Central Front with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. He told commanders of the two Allied forces holding the Kumsong line—the U. S. 9th Corps and ROK 2nd Corps—the mighty Red offensive has been repulsed and the Allies now occupy "the shortest and most defensible line consistent with their mission in this area."

Clinging doggedly to the southern slopes of Sam Hyon, the ROKs fought through this afternoon with Chinese on the north, the 8th Army reported. The South Koreans had jumped off at 7 a.m. and slugged their way to the summit in close combat by 10. They were hurled back around 12:30 p.m. by a regiment of 3,500 attacking Chinese.

The South Koreans jumped off against Sam Hyon at 7 a.m., fought their way to the top in hand-to-hand combat by 10, then were forced back shortly after noon by a reinforced Red battalion—more than 3,000 soldiers.

On the eastern flank of the Kumsong Bulge, men of the U. S.3rd Infantry Division hurled back some 150 Reds who lobbed hand grenades into their trenches during a bloody hour-long fight.

To the west flank, South Koreans tore up a 200-man Red attack in a four-hour seesaw battle for an outpost.

Allied fighter-bombers dropped more than 300 tons of bombs on Red front-line positions today, particularly in the Kumsong Bulge, the Air Force said.

Eighteen American B29s fought off Communist jet night fighters early this morning while on bomb runs over two Red airfields in northwest Korea. The Air Force said all returned safely.

Truce

Swedish members of a commissions which will supervise an armistice arrived in Korea from Japan.

Communist radio stations reacted promptly and violently to President Syngman Rhee's statement yesterday that South Korea will follow its own course of action unless the Reds agree within six months after a truce is signed to evacuate North Korea.

Peiping said the statement was "nothing but a pretext to wreck the armistice." And the broadcast added:

"Contined American connivance with Rhee has placed the Korean armistice in great danger."

At the same time, however, the Red broadcasts did not say a truce was impossible. And Red workmen at Panmunjom hammered away at a new building for the armistice signing ceremonies.

Four Swiss and four Swedish members of the Neutral Nations Armistice Commission flew to Seoul from Tokyo and were hustled to the U. N. advance camp at Munsan by helicopter.

A cordon of military police surrounded the plane as it landed. No one was allowed to talk with the party.

After the delegates arrived in Munsan, the U. N. Command announced their names and said the group is in Korea to pave the way for the commission's work.

The armistice commission members landed in Korea as Allied and Red liaison officers huddled secretly here. The officers, who arrange meetings of the full truce delegations, met for an hour and 44 minutes, then recessed without scheduling another session.

The liaison officers could set a tentative date for signing a truce, then call a meeting of the full delegations to approve it.

Earlier in the day staff officers conferred for 2 hours and 42 minutes, then recessed without scheduling another session. It was announced that the next meeting would be set by liaison officers.

There was no word what details of a truce the staff officers discussed.

On a visit to the battlefront during the day, Rhee told Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph he would not obstruct an armistice "under certain conditions."

"If we can see our way to survive, we can reach agreement," he said. "But if we cannot see our way to survive that is a different thing."

The old statesman has said many times his nation cannot survive divided and with Chinese Communist troops in the North.

Before Rhee left Seoul for the front, he talked for 55 minutes with U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs.

Briggs delivered a message released in Washington by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The statement said the United States presumed Rhee would abide by assurances that he would not impede an armistice.

A high South Korean source said late today that a U. S. State Department note delivered to Rhee yesterday was "quite unsatisfactory."

The source, who asked not to be identified, said the letter failed to give satisfactory answers to questions raised by South Korea during talks last month between Rhee and Asst. Secretary of State Walter Robertson, President Eisenhower's truce envoy.

Judge Hand Handy With Folk Songs

WASHINGTON (UP) — Judge Learned Hand of the second U.S. circuit court turns up as a folk song singer in a record collection released by the Library of Congress.

The judge, who retired in June, 1951, sings two songs—"Phil Sheridan" and "Iron Merrimac"—in the long-playing album titled "Songs and Ballads of American History and of the Assassination of Presidents."

The judge learned "Iron Merrimac" when he was a boy in Elizabethtown, N. Y., and Adirondack mountain village. He believes that village boys learned it from his uncle's hired man who fought in the Civil War.

The other ballad, "Phil Sheridan," he learned from a fellow student at Harvard Law School about 1895 or 1896.

The judge recorded these songs in 1942 for the library's Archive of American Folk Songs. The collection now released for public sale also includes "American Sea Songs and Shanties," "Cowboy Songs," 'Ballads and Cattle Calls from Texas," and a number of Mormon songs.

"American Sea Songs and Shanties" were recorded by men who learned them aboard ship. One of the singers in the group is Capt. Leighton Robinson of Mill Valley, Cal., now about 85.

came to the conclusion that the man may have been Doss.

Dysard explained that Melmore is in the general vicinity of the kidnapings of Velma Jean and eight-year-old Joan Dobbins from her mother's car in Crawford County on May 21. He added that the man who molested Dorothy apparently operated in the same manner as Doss.

May Be All Wet"

"However, we may be all wet," in assuming that this man was Doss, Sheriff Dysard said today.

State highway patrolmen were not called into the investigation because of the incomplete descriptions obtained from the 10-year-old girl and because of the difference in the description of the car and that of Doss' car, Sheriff Dysard said.

Meanwhile, State Highway Patrol Corporal D. M. DeWalt of Marion said today that no positive trace of Doss has yet been made. He said that state patrolmen have received a number of reports that Doss was seen one place or another, but that investigations failed to locate him.

A warrant for his arrest on a charge of kidnaping the Abbott girl was issued in Wyandot County and authorities throughout Ohio and surrounding states were sent his description and asked to be on the alert for him.

He disappeared from his Marion address the day after the kidnaping of Velma Jean.

Street Work Nearly Done

City Surface Treating To Be Ended Saturday

Surface treating of some 19 miles of Marion city streets will likely be completed this week, according to Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest.

Unless delayed by rain, the project is scheduled for completion before Saturday, he explained. An annual street maintenance program, the project this year included covering slightly more than 15½ miles of streets with asphalt emulsion and crushed stone and another nearly 3½ miles of streets and alleys with road oil only.

The program began two weeks ago and is being carried on by the U. S. Construction Co. of Upper Sandusky on its low bid of $17,039 for supplying all necessary materials. Purpose of the surface treating is to seal the pavement to prevent water getting underneath and causing freezing and thawing damage during winter.

Moore had been in failing health since September of 1952. He was the last of his family and is survived by a niece, Miss Catherine Moore of Cleveland.

Moore, who was in the newspaper business for more than 40 years in Kenton, was employed during his career both by the News-Republican and the Daily Democrat. At one time he was editor of the Democrat and his last responsibility was advertising manager of that newspaper, a post which he held for many years.

SPOONBURGERS ON BUNS with gherkins and tomatoes

PAN FRIED BEEF LIVER—In summer style

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Is everybody happy? They should be. Beef keeps on being plentiful—and what better fare for warm weather? Beef takes to barbecue cooking on that outdoor setup. It's in cahoots with top-of-the-range cooking—ragouts, hamburger variations, Swiss steak. And on a cool morning, when you don't mind turning your oven on, why not roast that queen of the table—prime ribs of beef? Or put the roast in your electric roaster, if you have one. Serve the beef up cold for supper, in thin slices. Perfect accompaniment for potato salad, cole slaw or tossed greens.

Want to invite the gang to supper? Make it quick, make it easy, make it something everyone likes. It's ground beef, of course, we're talking about—reasonable enough to feed even appetites worked up after swimming, golf or tennis. But change the hamburger routine and try our Supper Spoonburgers. We guarantee them to be snappy, to have that "You're such a good cook" touch.

And while we're discoursing on beef, we urge you not to forget to put beef liver on your menus at least once a week. It's more than plentiful, it supplies such valuable nutrients. Know how to prepare beef liver so it will give you its best? Know how to buy and store it? Here are tips.

Browning has a way of improving the flavor of beef liver, so cook it in serving-size slices rather than in one large piece. More surfaces to get delectably rich this way. See?

Beef liver is available fresh or packed frozen. Properly wrapped, it must be kept in the freezer at zero temperature for six to seven months. If you find a brand of frozen liver that you like, you'll be wise to stick to it. Liver's a delicate meat and it needs proper handling and refrigeration to preserve its quality.

Fresh beef liver should be wrapped loosely, kept in the coldest part of the refrigerator, and used within twenty-four hours after you buy it. A pound of fresh or frozen beef liver will give you four servings.

Don't be old-fashioned when you cook liver! It doesn't need to be scalded or soaked before it goes into the skillet, as recipes often used to direct. And don't cook the life out of it! Liver tastes best when it's cooked just until it's about to lose its pink color. Overcook it and you'll dry out this delicate meat.

Here's a special liver recipe for hot nights when you want to prepare a main dish in a matter of minutes.

SUPPER SPOONBURGERS

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¼ cup chopped onion, 1 pound ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup chili sauce, 8 hamburger buns (split), gherkins, tomatoes, parsley.

Method: Heat butter in 10-inch skillet. Add onion and cook until tender, stirring often. Add beef and mash with long-handled two-tined fork until crumbled and lightly browned. Mix in salt, pepper and chili sauce. Reheat for 2 or 3 minutes. Toast buns and pile meat mixture on one half of each bun. Garnish other halves with gherkins; add tomato slices and parsley to platter. Makes 4 servings—2 buns apiece. Double recipe if desired using 12-inch skillet.

PAN-FRIED LIVER, SUMMER STYLE

Ingredients: 1 pound sliced beef liver, ¼ cup flour, 2 tablespoons fat, ½ cup mixed chopped scallions and green peppers, salt and pepper, 1 cup sour cream or ⅓ cup bouillon.

Method: Spread flour on waxed paper. Dip liver slices in flour. Brown in hot fat with the scallions and green pepper. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Cook over low heat 5 to 10 minutes or until liver is cooked through. Remove liver to warm platter. Pour sour cream or bouillon into skilet. Stir with wooden spoon, scraping brown particles from bottom of skillet, and heat. If sour cream is used, have it at room temperature and do not boil. If bouillon is used, boil for a minute or two. Serve sour cream or bouillon gravy with liver. Makes 4 servings.

Construction Progressing On Hospital

Structural Work Near Halfway Mark, Contractors Report

Work on the structural part of the construction of the Marion General Hospital is moving along toward the half-way mark.

Paul Ryan, superintendent for the Knowlton Construction Co. of Dayton, general contractor, said that concrete for the third floor of the building is being poured this week. The structural part of the health wing has been poured also, he said.

Within two to three weeks the workmen will begin laying the brick walls of the building and should have this phase of construction completed well ahead of cold weather.

Ryan also said that aluminum window sash arrived at the building site this week and is ready for installation as quickly as the brick walls are put up.

He estimated that "between 35 and 40 per cent of construction" of the hospital is completed.

In work other than on the building itself, the Tiffin Excavating Co. has completed the installation of sanitary sewers outside the hospital grounds and is about 50 per cent finished with installation of storm water sewers outside the grounds. Inside the grounds, the Charles Kohli Co. of Lima has started its portion of the installation of storm and sanitary sewers to connect with those installed by the Tiffin Co. The sewers run west from the hospital site to the extension of Blaine Ave. then run north to connect with sewers in Blaine Ave. at Duluth Ave.

Also, work on construction of an access road to the site running south from the McKinley Park Blvd. was started this week by Plumley Trucking and Excavating Contractors of Marion.

The hospital is scheduled for completion about the middle of next year.

$45,857 Income Tax Claim Settled

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The government has settled a tax claim against the estate of the late Robert E. Hannegan for $45,857.

Hannegan, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee and former postmaster general, died Oct. 6, 1949.

The action was disclosed in the third annual settlement filed by executors of the estate filed in probate court yesterday. It showed that income tax overpayments and interest totaling $4,662 had been allowed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, reducing the estate's net payment to the government to $41,195.

The settlement, which included taxes due and interest, was on 1948 income. Payment was made last May 1.

A Few Remarks About A Hackneyed Word — "SERVICE"

It happens every day, every minute, somewhere. A hungry patron visits a swank restaurant or a dining car. The food is excellent, the place is clean, BUT the waiter for some reason known only to himself, just can't bring himself to smile. We expect a smile, pleasant, courteous service when we dine out, and here we insist on just that, regardless of the time of day, or whether it's pouring rain or real sunshiney. That's our idea of service.

Power Struggle Not Over

Malenkov Not 'In' Yet, British Feel

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of Britain's government were reported far from convinced today that Premier Georgi M. Malenkov wields total power in the Soviet Union.

Qualified informants said Prime Minister Churchill and his colleagues, on the basis of their own information from Moscow, would not be surprised if changes even more dramatic than the purging of Lavrenty P. Beria take place in the Russian hierarchy, and within the foreseeable future.

Government spokesmen did not express these views officially. But the private opinions were given considerable support by Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler's statements to Parliament yesterday.

Opening a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons, Butler explained the Western Allies had proposed a Big Four foreign ministers meeting on Germany and Austria even though they "might await further and perhaps even more sensational events behind the Iron Curtain, and above all wait to see who are likely to remain the real repositories of power in Moscow with whom we will have to negotiate."

Uncertainties about the Soviets, according to Butler, led the British to shelve for the time being Churchill's proposal for a top-level parley between the Russians and the West.

Within the context of this thinking, British officials today pondered the meaning of:

1. The apparent failure of three high leaders of the Red army to attend an important meeting of Russian military men in Moscow last week.

2. The sudden eight-day postponement of the meeting of the Soviet Union's parliament, the Supreme Soviet, which had been set last week for July 28 and now has been put off to Aug. 5.

The Moscow meeting of the Red army bosses was called to hear denunciations of Beria, the deposed police chief formerly considered No. 2 man to Malenkov.

British officials noted that the absentees included one of the two deputy ministers of defense, Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky (the other deputy, Marshall Georgi Zhukov, spoke at the meeting); Marshal Ivan S. Konev, before Stalin's death commander of Soviet ground forces and an honor guard at Stalin's bier, and veteran Gen. Sergei Shtemenko, a former army chief of staff.

Many officials here believe their absence from the Moscow meeting may mean they are not prepared to identify themselves in the campaign against Beria—and hence may also be in disgrace. But, cautiously, these officials add the absences may have been caused by less portentous reasons.

HOOVER TO HEAD COMMISSION. President Eisenhower shakes hands with former president Herbert Hoover as they pose at the White House after a luncheon at which plans for a 12-member bipartisan commission to study government operation were discussed. ## Mansfield Sewer Plans Presented Floyd G. Browne and Associates of Marion, consulting engineers, presented plans to Mansfield City Council Tuesday for expansion of the city's sewage disposal system costing an estimated 12 million dollars.

This high cost means that Mansfielders probably will be asked to approve a general bond issue this November which could range anywhere from $2,300,000 to $7,800,000, depending on the method the council chooses for financing the project.

Four alternate proposals were presented to the council by Browne. Two methods of financing were recommended by him. The first would be to issue general obligation bonds which must be voted by the people. The second would be to issue general obligation and mortgage revenue bonds. The entire project could be financed through general obligation bonds but that would nearly deplete the city's borrowing power.

Browne's report was based on a plant which would handle a population of 110,000 plus industry and an interceptor sewer system to handle 140,000 plus industry. It would be adequate to serve the city for 75 years.

In the Service

Sgt. Walter C. Hardy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Hardy of near Cardington, recently was awarded the Good Conduct Medal for exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity. He is serving in Korea as a cook with the 7th Infantry Division's 7th Medical Battalion and has been awarded the UN and Korean Service Ribbons in addition to the Good Conduct Medal. Before entering the Army in January 1952, he attended Western Village High School. His wife makes her home in Weston.

Roy D. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of Galion, was recently promoted to private first class while serving with the 45th Infantry Division in Korea. Clark is a squad leader in Company E of the division's 279th Infantry Regiment. He arrived in Korea last March. A former employee of the Safety Cab Co., he entered the Army in January 1951 and was stationed with the 4th Infantry Division at Frankfurt, Germany, before his present assignment. The 45th Infantry Division, originally an Oklahoma National Guard unit, has been in Korea since December 1951.

Labor Unions Will Join In Fair Parade

At a joint committee meeting of organized labor groups of Marion Tuesday night at the Central Labor Union hall, it was decided to join in the general parade sponsored by the Fair Board during fair week. The parade this year is scheduled Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 26, at the Fairgrounds.

The unions will prepare one or more floats and will set up booths to distribute literature and explain or answer questions on labor and public affairs.

Committees have been appointed representing the CIO, AFL, Machinists, Railroad Brotherhoods and local building construction unions. They will meet Monday night at the hall to further plan the affair and the personnel of the committees will be announced then.

Carrol W. Davidson, president of the Marion Central Labor Union, presided over the meeting attended by approximately 20 persons.

Tourist Crossed Up

Lausche Hangs Veto on Mental Hygiene Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature will have at least one veto to consider when it reconvenes July 31 to transact final business and close shop for the session.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche yesterday vetoed a bill to create a new state department of mental hygiene and correction.

The bill would transfer most of the functions of the old welfare department to the new agency, leaving the old section to handle the public assistance programs and a few other social services.

It was Lausche's third veto of bills passed in the 100th General Assembly.

The Legislature overrode the governor's first disapproval—on an act authorizing construction of a toll bridge across Sandusky Bay between Sandusky and Cedar Point. The House voted to override the second veto of a proposal to let trustees invest funds of trust estates in stocks. Senate action is pending.

The governor said creation of the new state mental hygiene and correction department "would result in legislative paradoxes and complete confusion" and tended to make figureheads of department directors.

"Neither the proposed director of mental hygiene nor the director of public welfare would have control over the budget of his respective department . . ." the governor wrote in his message accompanying the veto.

The governor is reportedly considering vetoing a bill which would distribute 11½ million dollars a year from license tag fees to cities, counties and townships for highway purposes.

Marion County Bond Sales Up During June

Keep Pace With National Gain in U.S. Securities

Higher Ohio sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in June, over the same month last year, showed the state kept pace with the national gain of 28 per cent for the first half of 1953, Robert E. White, chairman of the Marion County Savings Bond Committee, reported. Sales of E and H Bonds in Marion County were $145,483 and compare to 59,518 invested in the two bonds in June, 1952.

Six-month total of E and H Bond sales nationally this year reached $2,231,000,000 for a 28 per cent increase. Ohio sales of the two bonds in the same period reached $150,932,264, for a dollar gain of $33,037,115. State purchases last month were $24,298,283 and compare to $20,585,863 sold in June, 1952.

Chairman White said the June report marked the anniversary of the introduction of the Series H Bond, and in a 12-months' period it has taken its place as "the twin of the E Bond." Interest on the H Bond is paid by Treasury check each six months, instead of adding the interest to the cash value as the E Bond does. Chairman White said the H Bond is sold at par, or face value, and is redeemable at face value six months after date of issue. If held to maturity, it yields 3 per cent compounded semi-annually, the same as the E Bond.

Corn Bread Sloppy Joes Score Hit at Parties

Without the aid of train, plane or boat, you can transport your friends to a South American holiday. The "Latin from Manhattan" theme is perfect for a party and as the climax to the evening, serve refreshments that carry out the Latin theme.

The delicious, peppy version of the popular "Sloppy Joe" is one colorful touch that will make your party the best of the season.

CORN BREAD SLOPPY JOES

Ingredients: (For corn bread) 2 cups enriched corn meal, 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 8 teaspoons baking powder, 2 eggs, 2 lups milk, ½ cup shortening, soft.

(For Sloppy Joe mixture) 2 lbs. ground beef, 1 cup chopped onion, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, 2 cans tomato sauce, ½ cup chili sauce, ½ cup hot water, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons vinegar and 1 teaspoon dry mustard.

Method: For corn bread, sift together dry ingredients into large bowl. Add eggs, milk and shortening. Beat with rotary egg beater until smooth, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat. Pour batter into greased 8-by-12-inch pan. Bake in hot oven (425 F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

For Sloppy Joe mixture, brown the meat in a little hot fat in a large frying pan. Add onion and green pepper and cook about 5 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients and simmer 20 to 25 minutes. To serve, cut corn bread into squares. Toast until golden brown. Top with hot Sloppy Joe mixture. Serves 12.

Hospital Babies Good at Forecasting

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP)—Babies must be pretty good weather forecasters. At least they're beginning to think so at St. Joseph's Hospital.

A cool spell came early this month after the arrival of baby Frost. Warm days followed baby Sommer. Then baby Wetter and Showers arrived a few days later.

Three inches of rain flooded the streets at almost the same time—and then baby Flood arrived.

Shown in Week's Food Market

Meat Prices Register Rise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It will cost you more to feed your family this week.

That'll be true if you buy any of the favorite meats — beef, pork or lamb. You'll probably find egg prices up in your store, too. And vegetables may be a little more expensive.

Meat prices this week reflect the sharp rise that has taken place recently in the livestock markets, particularly in cattle. Pork and lamb prices have been strong all along, and now they're climbing again.

Here's a representative picture of this week's beef prices as presented by one of the largest food chains: Sirloin steak is up four cents a pound in Jacksonville, Fla., from a week ago, ahead 10 cents a pound in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., 12 cents in Pittsburgh and 14 cents in Chicago.

Rib roast is up three cents in Los Angeles, four cents in Jacksonville, six cents in New York, eight cents in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, 10 cents in Boston and Chicago and 12 cents in Washington, D. C.

Leg of lamb is two to six cents higher. Pork chops are up as much as 11 cents a pound. Eggs are selling from one to eight cents a dozen above last week in many stores.

But before you turn vegetarian, note this faint word of encouragement from a meat specialist for a big chain:

"There is a slight tone of weakness in the wholesale beef market," he said, "although not enough to influence prices. There is a slight possibility of a small downward movement in price."

As a result of the price rises on the major meat items, some stores are featuring frying and roasting chickens. There also will be weekend specials on some of the meats that have gone up.

There was only a handful of vegetables on the bargain counter. Produce men singled out beans and onions as especially good buys and labelled celery, potatoes and tomatoes as "pretty good buys."

On the produce markets, however, nearly all fruits moved higher and most vegetables followed suit.

Grand Jury Calls For Air Conditioning Unit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A circuit court grand jury wants an air-conditioning unit in the worst way.

The jury complained it must work in sweltering temperatures in the Municipal Courts Building so yesterday, to prove its request for a unit is well founded, the jury issued polite subpoenas to city officials to come "see for themselves."

As Jury Foreman Robert M. Guion puts it:

"There are only a couple of broken-down fans in there, and when we open the windows to get some air, street noises make it difficult for us to hear witnesses."

Retired Doctor, 80, Gets Job at Jamboree

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif. (AP)—An 80-year-old retired Iowa physician accompanied his grandson to the Boy Scout Jamboree and then got himself a job at it.

"They guessed I was 65," Dr. J. Frank Aldrich said yesterday of his jamboree assignment as head of the Illinois Section Health Lodge. "But they figured I could handle the job even when I told them my real age."

Dr. Aldrich helped introduce the scouting movement in 1911 in Shenandoah, Iowa, where he practiced medicine more than 50 years. His grandson, Robin Bishop, 13, is a scout from Decatur, Ill.

New Guinea's Greater Bird of Paradise, noted for its magnificent, multicolored plumes, is a cousin to the common crow.

Former Upper Man Completes 50-Year Railroad Career

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — Edwin J. Scheuneman, of Fort Wayne, Ind., a native of Upper Sandusky, has retired as an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad system and as a result the family name of Scheuneman has been taken off the railroad's payroll for the first time in 84 years.

Scheuneman is a brother of Miss Huldah Scheuneman of Upper Sandusky.

Scheuneman's retirement became effective the first of this month and in honor of the occasion he was feted by his co-workers at Fort Wayne, who presented him with a Benrus wrist watch.

Scheuneman completed 50 years and six weeks of continuous service with the Pennsylvania Railroad. His father, the late Charles Scheuneman, who retired in 1923, had an even longer term of service, having completed 52 years of service.

The name of Scheuneman first went on the Pennsy payroll in 1869, when his grandfather, L. H. Scheuneman, accepted a job with the system and eventually completed 25 years of service. The third generation of the Scheunemans first entered the service May 7, 1903, as a supervisor clerk in Upper Sandusky.

Crestline Woman Sentenced in Fatal Stabbing of Mate

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll Wednesday sentenced 45-year-old Mrs. Gladys Hoffman of Crestline to an indeterminate term at Marysville State Reformatory for Women for the fatal stabbing of her husband, Harlan, 60, last March 15.

A Crawford County Common Pleas jury had returned a unanimous verdict of guilty of manslaughter at the end of a three-day trial several weeks ago. The judge overruled a motion filed by Mrs. Hoffman's attorney, John Berger, for a new trial.

Manslaughter carries a 1-20 year term.

Mrs. Hoffman was indicted by the grand jury in May on the manslaughter charge. The stabbing occurred following a wine-drinking party at the Hoffman home in which the couple and a next-door neighbor, Edward Harvey, 55, participated. Hoffman, an employee of the Crestline municipal waterworks, died of stab wounds in the heart and abdomen.

Municipal Airport Dedication Slated

Formal dedication of Marion Municipal Airport is planned for Sunday, Aug. 16, Ralph Forrest, safety-service director, announced today.

Among the events tentatively scheduled are a breakfast flight being planned by the JayCees, flights of military aircraft into the airport, and official acceptance of the airport by the city.

Harry L. Dowler, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation committee, explained that the airport has never been dedicated because it could not be considered a completed airport until seeding of areas between the runways was completed. This seeding is now completed, he said.

Plans for the dedication are being made jointly by the Aviation Committeee, the JayCees, and city officials.

Hostility to Foreigners Resumed

Moscow's War-Time Friendliness Short-Lived

Editor's note—Eddy Gilmore, for 11 years an AP correspondent in Moscow, is back on "the right side of the Iron Curtain," as he expresses it. In this story, third of a series to appear here this week, Gilmore gives a glimpse into Moscow life as foreigners used to live it, and as they have lived it since the cold war developed.

By EDDY GILMORE

PARIS (AP)—The cold war started, and a frigid wind began to blow from Joseph Stalin's Kremlin, cooling off any faint hope of American-Soviet cooperation and growing friendship. The air from Washington wasn't exactly warm, either.

It would be incorrect to say Americans in Moscow, even during the greatest moments of wartime pal talk, were ever howlingly popular with the Communist government. But we were with the people and compared to what happened later, we led a charmed life.

I left an official party at 2:20 one morning, arm and arm with a man who is now a marshal in the Soviet army. With other Russians and foreigners from some of the embassies, we journeyed to my apartment.

This high military man, once inside my modest place, lit the candles, turned down the lights and sat down at the piano and played until dawn. It all seemed not very unusual then.

Another time I found myself at a big Russian dinner. More than 60 persons at one long table. I seemed to be the only foreigner present.

"Eddy Eddyovich," said my host, "I've found something for you."

He proudly whipped out a bottle of scotch.

A little dark man near me, who looked like a party type, shuddered. He looked around him with what I thought was considerable suspicion, and turned to a major general in the Soviet army.

"Comrade general," said the party type, "scotch whisky (shetlandsky viskey was the way he said it in Russian) may be all right for some people, but I prefer our Russian vodka, don't you?"

The general, who had a stout hooker of shetlandsky viskey in his right hand, gave him a cold eye.

"No," he said, "I'm not that Chauvinistic."

You invited Russians to your apartment and some of them came. Some of them invited you to their places. You found yourself at real Russian parties that must not have changed over the years. And there were lots of Russians about.

NOT WHOLLY IN THE DARK. Werner H. Marti, blind, teacher and father of five, works with typewriter and tape recorder, important tools for sightless, in Los Angeles.

You liked the people and they seemed to like you.

I'm not referring to the small group of Russians who had been approved for contact with foreigners. They were always about, polite, often charming, good conversationalists, but nevertheless, people we felt were unduly interested in what we were saying and commentng on. I'm referring to just plain Russians, and some who were anything but plain. But not approved people.

Foreigners could travel into the countryside in all directions from Moscow, and while it isn't exactly the French Riviera, it offered some good swimming spots which were especially nice after parties in summer.

And there were the gypsies.

The best Russian parties, I believe, must have gypsies. At the end of the evening. Like champagne at the end of the dinner. Well, we had them back in those days.

Then one morning, after a very fine party, there was a "veliki skandal." A bad show, an incident.

A junior member of the American Embassy (not on the diplomatic list) was taking a gypsy girl home in a taxi, I believe. He reported she resented his attention. She reported, and in the public press, that she resented his advances. The paper blamed American boorishness and a lack of respect for women.

Now I admire gypsies almost as much as any people in the world and I've been around a few in my day. I think the American must have handled his case badly. Or that he was framed, because I've never heard of gypsies writing in the paper about such private things.

Then there was the case of another young American whose automobile was rammed from behind by a Russian car. He got out and there was a large argument and when the Russian started to drive off, the American smashed in one of his side windows.

These were signs of the times.

The cold wind blew colder. No gypsies at parties. Very few Russians at parties. Then no Russians at all at parties. Then no Russian friends.

Travel restrictions were clamped on all foreigners. The diplomatic rate of 12 rubles to a dollar was reduced to 8 to a dollar and then came the money reform and it was 4 to a dollar. This wasn't, and isn't today, an exchange rate. It borders on confiscation.

As the wife of a former American ambassador, Adm. Alan G. Kirk, so aptly put it—all the foreigners were thrown up on a raft together.

Some couldn't stand it.

One day a young attache at the embassy told the ambassador:

"They almost got me last night. They tried to push me out of the window."

In a few days he was on his way home.

A Norwegian shot himself one night. A young man from the British Embassy ran amok in the Metropole Hotel's dining room. He broke four chairs over various Russians, upset two tables, smashed dishes and got thrown into jail.

Two embassies found microphones on their premises. They didn't appear to be new ones, but they were rigged up with wires.

We talked in even softer whispers to one another. And people complained bitterly about life in Moscow. This thing that the Soviet authorities had brought on—this complete isolation of the foreigners—naturally created resentment among certain foreigners.

To the few Russians they had contact with, servants mostly, they could be very rude at times. And often in the presence of my wife (a Russian) we'd hear the phrase "these damn Russians." Or worse. But these were the exceptions. Most foreigners treated their servants with kindness no matter how cold the war got. And they were wonderful to my wife and the Russian wives of other foreigners who were certainly in a strange predicament.

They were Soviet citizens, yet Soviet citizens seldom, if ever, came to their apartments. A uniformed policeman stood by the front door of my apartment house, 24 hours a day, no matter the weather.

Even if any Russian had wanted to, he would have been turned away by the fellow in uniform, before he completed his visit to our apartment.

Letters From Our Readers

IMPROVEMENTS PROPOSED

Editor of The Star: I have listed three things, which I think might be beneficial to our local community:

First: I have noticed that the work of painting cross-walks, parking spaces and lines in the center of the street is always done in the daytime. This of course means that one or more streets must be shut off from parking, while the lines are painted. If the work were done between midnight and dawn, it could be done far better. There would be a great deal less traffic to contend with and the streets would not have to be closed off for parking. Then too, if this were done at night the men working could do so with much less chance of being struck by a moving vehicle because traffic would be much lighter.

Second: I think that what this city really needs to help promote greater safety for its pedestrians, is "walk" lights. Before I moved to Marion I was a resident of Schenectady, N. Y. There they tried the walk lights, and found there was a rapid decline in the accident toll. Under our present system, it is almost worth your life to cross a street, for even though you are crossing with the light, in many cases, the automobile driver who also has the light with him will desire to make a turn, with little or no regard for the pedestrian, and will in most cases try to cut in front of the person on foot, instead of giving him the right-of-way, which he deserves, when he is crossing with the light. This lack of courtesy on the part of the motorist, will invariably lead to an accident. There may be some folks who do not understand how these lights work, so I shall endeavor to explain:

In Schenectady, all up and down-town traffic moved at the same time. Then, all crosstown traffic would move. Then, all traffic lights would turn red, and a white light with black printing, (reading "Walk") installed right under the regular traffic signal, would light up, and that gave all persons who were walking a chance to cross the street in any direction in complete safety. The walk light remained on for a sufficient length of time to allow all persons waiting on the curb to cross the street and reach the opposite curb in safety. When these lights were first installed in Schenectady, it took the pedestrians almost a month to become accustomed to them. The lights were only installed in the business district, and for a couple of weeks, a city policeman was stationed in each block to warn jay-walkers, or folks who neglected to observe the light. At the end of about a month people were no longer warned but were fined for failure to observe the rules. In a short time, everybody learned to cross at the corner, and to await the walk light.

Third: I have noticed that a number of sidewalks in the business district are in a deplorable condition. It is also quite an expense to tear up this concrete and lay new walks. So, inasmuch as these old sidewalks form an excellent concrete base, I suggest doing as some places in the city have already done, and that is, put a coating of black-top on top of the old sidewalk. This would not only cut down expense, but would make walking much softer, and might save a great many fallen arches, It also makes a smooth sidewalk, with no cracks for folks to trip over.

Perhaps these ideas may sound like screw-ball ideas to some, but my only thought in suggesting them is to make Marion a much improved, safer, and a more up-to-date city; for I have every faith in Marion. I think it is a city definitely on the up-trend, and a city which has numerous advantages to offer new industries that wish to locate here.

Corn, Soybean Outlook In Crawford Co. Good

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Prospects are excellent for good corn and soybean crops in Crawford County if there is normal rainfall the next several weeks, County Agriculture Agent Russell L. Miller reported here today.

Miller said rains over last week end were extremely helpful to crops. An immediate result of the week-end rainfall was noticed by dairymen, who observed that their pastures, which had been "burning up," perked up quickly.

The rainfall also has another beneficial effect, Miller pointed out, as it covered newly-hatched chinch bugs with dirt, causing their extermination.

Morrow County Day Set July 30 At Tiffin Farm

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD—Morrow County farmers will have an opportunity to see for themselves the facilities at the Northern Ohio Breeders Association when they visit the Tiffin bull stud farm on Thursday, July 30.

Designated as "Morrow County Day" at the farm, the date will see a special program arranged which will give the farmers of the county an opportunity to learn how the association functions as well as to ask any questions they desire regarding the breeding program.

With more than 700 members in Morrow County, the Northern Ohio Breeders Association acts as the "papa" for more than 5200 test tube calves that are born annually in Morrow County. Wilbur Henry is the inseminator for the southern half of the county and Enos Reeve serves in the same capacity for the northern half. The breeding program as well as the central testing program is supervised in the county by the Morrow County Dairy Service Unit through directors in each township.

The tour to Tiffin will begin at 9:30 a.m., when the cars leave Mt. Gilead. At the bull farm the program will include a tour of facilities, discussions by specialists at the farm on problems connected with artificial breeding, and a lunch which will be served by a Tiffin catering concern at a reasonable cost. Reservation cards will be mailed to Morrow County dairymen in the near future.

Fights Off Enemy To Escape

Ohio GI Trapped 60 Hours Behind Chinese Lines

(Editors: The following story of how a Marine sergeant beat of Red attackers in a crumpled bunker on Outpost Berlin and then lived for 60 hours behind Communist lines was written by Capt. Verle E. Ldwig, a Marine combat reporter, and distributed by The Associated Press.)

By CAPT. VERLE E. LUDWIG

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—A haggard young Marine squad leader today told how he lived for 60 hours in Communist territory on nothing but rice paddy water and ice-cold nerve.

It started Sunday night when the sergeant was trapped in a caved-in bunker that crumbled around him under heavy Chinese shelling before the Red attack on Outpost Berlin in the 1st Marine Division sector.

"The next thing I knew," said Sgt. Robert E. Rich, Cincinnati, Ohio, "goonies were talking all around me. They'd moved in right under their own artillery."

"They started yelling for me to lay down my weapon and surrender," the 22-year-old veteran of many patrols into no-man's land said.

"I guess those were the only English words they knew.

"One goonie stuck his head into the caved-in bunker and I shot him in the face with my .45.

"Then there was another and I blasted him at point blank range.

"I guess they didn't know that shot finished off my ammo, because there were no more to stick their heads in. But at least they knew I wasn't about to surrender because they threw a grenade in with me. It had a long fuse on it, though, and I had time to pitch it back out before it went off."

"Next came a charge of explosives packed in a long iron pipe," Rich continued, "and I was just shoving that back out the opening when the thing went off."

The blast knocked the sergeant back across the bunker and dazed him. He was cut on the face, arms and hands by fragments. When he regained consciousness he looked outside and the Chinese saw him. A Red soldier stuck head and shoulders inside the bunker opening and began to fire at the Marine.

Rich escaped by sliding out a rear opening of the bunker and working his way down the slope of the outpost hill toward enemy territory.

The squad leader, who has been in Korea since February, hid the next day near an abandoned rice paddy where he could get some water. He had no food.

The following night—24 hours after he escaped from the bunker—Rich again took to the darkened trails.

He climbed a hill toward what he thought was the Marine front line and shouted his identity near two machine gun positions. But then he discovered he was deeper in enemy territory. He had walked under the muzzles of the two Chinese machine gun nests.

"They began to shoot at me," Rich said, "and fire mortars around me. So I knew I was still a little off base.

"I circled around to the Berlins," the sergeant continued, "and started working my way up over the shoulder of East Berlin."

East Berlin is the other half of the two cities positions, wrested from the Marines Sunday night in savage fighting.

Rich found his escape route blocked on East Berlin. So he doubled back deeper into enemy country to switch toward Allied lines in the saddle between the fallen outposts.

He spent the day hiding in a rocky niche only a few yards from a Chinese soldier working on a gun emplacement. And in daylight he was able to regain his sense of direction.

"I knew I could make it back then," Rich said. "I'd been in this area before on patrols and I knew where it was."

Under the cover of darkness Tuesday night—48 hours after he had rammed the exploding metal pipe back into the faces of the Chinese soldiers — Rich again moved out through enemy territory.

Rich worked his way cautiously across the paddies toward the Marine front lines. He reached an abandoned bunker forward of the Marine line shortly before daybreak and there he found the first food he had eaten since Sunday night—a lone can of C rations.

The Marines who saw Rich about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning after 60 hours in enemy territory probably would have been less surprised had they seen him during darkness.

Blood streaked his torn uniform. His cheeks were hollow and his eyes sunken.

Navy Dr. Stanley J. Yamula, of Hazleton, Pa., who took care of Rich when he was brought to the forward hospital said, "he'll be all right after a little rest. His wounds aren't serious. I'm sure he could make it on guts alone. He's a mighty cool customer."

Scientists Seek To Analyze Wasp's Venom

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Scientists are trying to coax a wasp into giving them the prescription for a deadly venom.

If they're successful, they'll have a new bug-killer to offer housewives and farmers who are looking for something to put in their spray gun.

The wasp under study is a tiny parasite called Habrobracon. It is known to ge able to paralyze certain insect larvae by stinging them with a venom far more powerful than any known insecticide.

Scientists at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station say they can't use the wasp's venom as is, but they are trying to learn its chemistry.

Those Taxi Rides In Old Vienna!

VIENNA (UP) — The rather amazing taxicab service of Vienna—the cars are mostly models ranging from 1912 to 1920—is in the process of being revitalized by the addition of 100 used sedans bought from surplus U. S. Army stocks.

Vienna's 1,300 taxis are a marvel of the modern world, far surpassing London, Rome and Paris vintage models on all counts.

A few have to be hand-cranked. Even those with self-starters often are hand-cranked to save precious batteries. Upholstery and trimmings have long since been substituted by horse balnkets, pieces of cardboard—or just bare boards.

But the otherwise glum, shaky interior is—as in many London taxis — brightened by the addition of a vase or two of live flowers.

Verified anecodotes concerning Vienna's taxis, some operating continuously since before World War I, are legion and are usually of the Mack Sennett variety.

Customers have been known to open rear doors and have them come off in their hands. Batteries on some models, slung under the chassis, have dropped off while cars were en route. The drivers, usually cheerful walrus-moustached, leather-hatted ancients, stop with no comment, walk back, retrieve them and carry on.

The meters are calibrated to the value of the Austrian schilling of 25 years ago when a groschen—100 to the schilling—was worth something. One schilling is now worth .036 cents U. S., a groschen .0038 cents.

But the taxis have survived two world wars and vicissitudes. Their drivers are philosophical and can make out fine today in English, French and Russian.

Some drivers have turned down the offer to buy second-hand American surplus cars on the grounds they burn too much gasoline and "are too difficult to repair."

It's simpler to use pieces of wire and cardboard and prayer.

The world's first cafeteria was opened in Chicago in 1895 by a man named Ernest Kimball.

Blood Donors Give 163 Pints

196 Contribute at Bloodmobile Visit

Marion residents, by responding to the plea for blood donors, made Wednesday's visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit to Marion a success.

A total of 196 donors visited the blood center at the First Presbyterian Church during the day and 163 pints of blood were received. Of the number of donors, 61 were walk-ins, not having previous appointments.

Mrs. John P. Courtright was chairman of volunteer services for the day.

Local physicians contributing their services were Dr. John MacGregor, Dr. J. M. King and Dr. A. E. Morrison. Registered nurses serving were Mrs. Virginia Greenland, Mrs. Mary Ann Elliott, Mrs. Clarence Sands, Mrs. Helen Herron, Mrs. Bernard Smith and Mrs. Josephine Kyle, and assisting as nurse aides were Mrs. Edward T. Huber and Mrs. Garnet Cross.

Canteen workers included Mrs. William Marble, Mrs. Homer Waddell, Mrs. H. E. Meister, Mrs. Burl Currey, Mrs. O. P. Miller, Mrs. W. D. Scranton, Mrs. H. G. Duhamel, Mrs. Lowell Midlam, Mrs. William McGee, Mrs. A. B. Augenstein and Mrs. Lowell Pollock.

Gray ladies for the day were Mrs. Robert Graham, Mrs. James Lee, Mrs. Harley Lewis and Mrs. Walter Axthelm, in charge of motor service was Mrs. John Ritzler, and staff aides were Mrs. Betty Reynolds, Mrs. John Ryan, Mrs. L. R. Rentz, Mrs. Ivan Barnhart, Mrs. Joseph Scandling, Mrs. W. P. Mahaffey and Mrs. J. H. Harmon.

City firemen giving their services were H. W. Davis, John Chaney and James Bowers, and Charles Osterholt was in charge of arranging facilities.

Today, the unit is at the Marion Power Shovel Co.

The word "Eskimo" means fish-eater and was applied as a term of derision by the Algonquin Indians in speaking of natives of Southern Labrador.

Plan Air Tour Of Morrow County For August 29

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD—A County air tour, plowing matches and entries in a national contest were among the items discussed at the regular meeting of the Headwaters SCS Supervisors last week.

The air tour of Morrow County, similar to one held last year, has been temporarily set for Saturday, Aug. 29. John Hocker is in charge of arrangements. A tour of birdsfoot trefoil plantings in the county has been temporarily set for July 28. Supervisors have decided to discontinue the county plowing matches for the present time.

Fred Brown was named as a delegate to the supervisors school.

Two farms were selected as entries in the Baltimore and Ohio contest. They were the Howard Killen farm in the 141 acres or under class and the Homer Sayer farm in the 141 acres or over class. Supervisors also passed a motion to enter the Goodyear contest.

Conservation agreements were approved with the following: T. B. Herendeen, Franklin and Chester Township; Harold W. Patrick, South Bloomfield Township; Mary Teter, North Bloomfield; Edward A. Patrick, South Bloomfield and Frances Fiant, Westfield.

Farm plans were approved for the following: initial plans, Guy Granger, Westfield Township; basic plans, K. B. Grooms, Washington; Silas Fuller, Harmony; Clinton Edwards, Chester; Victor Sutherland, Lincoln; John D. Wintermute, North Bloomfield; Byron and Ruth Keefer, North Bloomfield; the Pines, Perry.

Applications were presented by farm planner Max Bigham for the following: one mile of waterways for George Wilt; one-half mile waterway for B. Wooster; 30 acres of strip cropping for George Ray; pond surveys for J. A. Mattix, J. D. Wintermute, Lester Fuller and W. S. Myser; tile surveys for Ivan Mattix, Cogle and Courtright, Bob Brown, E. W. Heidlebaugh, and D. Wetzel.

Delayed Check

DURHAM, N. C., (AP)—Lena Alston telephoned police that she had sent some clothes to the dry cleaner's and they hadn't been returned. Frankly, she was worried.

The police said they'd investigate. When, they asked, did the cleaner's route man pick up the clothes?

"About a year ago," said Lena.

Snake Knocks Out Power of 2 Towns

EUFAULA, Okla. (AP)—A chicken snake barbecued himself for nearly two hours and knocked out electrical power to two eastern Oklahoma towns last night when he wrapped his 4½-foot length around a 68,000-volt transformer.

Service was restored to Eufaula and Checotah when crews located the trouble at a substation north of here.

Committee Named For Fish Fry In Morrow County

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD—The biggest fish fry that Morrow County has ever known is in prospect on August 6, when more than a dozen county-wide agencies combine forces in an attempt to complete the fund raising drive for the new Junior Fair Exhibition Hall at the Morrow County fairgrounds.

Coupled with a big square dance which will be held in the new building, the fish fry is expected to attract a huge crowd to the fairgrounds. At at planning meeting, the following general committee chairmen were selected: to obtain frying equipment and personnel for frying—Walter Hardesty, of Marengo; tables and seating arrangement—the vocational agricultural instructors of the county; to obtain fish for frying—Fred Jones, of near Cardington.

To supervise collection and serving of food—Mrs. Donald Bowen, vocational home economics instructor at Mt. Gilead, and Mrs. Linn Healea, 4-H Club advisor of near Johnsville.

The Morrow County Junior Leadership 4-H Club handling the responsibility for the square dance which will be held on the concrete floor in the new building. Special finishing will be placed on the floor when it is laid so that it will be especially suitable for dancing.

Tickets will be on sale by 4-H Club, FFA and FHA members and advisors throughout the county, and at several business places.

Man Acquitted But Goes to Jail Anyway

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Buster Youngwolfe, 21, went to prison today even though he was acquitted in the slaying of a neighbor girl, Phyllis Jean Warren, 11.

Youngwolfe, a paroled convict, testified at his trial he could not have slain the girl, as charged by the state, because he was drinking beer in a tavern at the time the girl was believed to have been strangled.

District Judge Elmer Adams revoked Youngwolfe's parole yesterday because of the testimony. Loitering in a tavern violates Oklahoma probation rules.

6 Ohioans Get Eagle Badge at Jamboree

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif. (AP) — Six Ohioans have been awarded the coveted eagle badge, highest rank in scouting, at the third National Boy Scout Jamboree.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

Blennerhasset Island in the Ohio River two miles downstream from Belpre, in 1806, three years after Ohio became a state, was the focal point of the biggest news story of its day.

A company of Ohio militia, ordered into the field by Governor Tiffin, was deployed downstream to capture and detain any boats descending the Ohio River under suspicious circumstances. Word had come to the United States government that Aaron Burr, former U. S. vice president, was plotting secession and treason with Harman Blennerhasset in a grand scheme to establish a great western empire.

Blennerhasset, a wealthy and educated Irishman married to the daughter of the Governor of the Isle of Man, had built, in 1800, the finest mansion in the Ohio Country on the island that still bears his name. This extensive home quickly became the social center for Belpre and Marietta.

Burr first visited this island Eden in April, 1805. Blennerhasset agreed to finance the expedition and he made a contract for building a fleet of fifteen large boats capable of transporting 500 well-armed men. By the time a command of Virginia militia took possession of the island, Blennerhassett and Burr had fled and the idea of a western empire was ended. The mansion was destroyed by fire in 1811.

Blennerhasset had moved to Mississippi, then to New York City and finally to the Isle of Guernsey, where he died in poverty.

Today, motorists touring along the Ohio River on Highway 7 can view this historic island in one of the most beautiful stretches of the great river which has been the highway of history.

Zieg Ayrshire Herd Places High in Test

The 14 Ayrshire dairy cows belonging to R. W. Zieg of near Marion placed among the nation's top Ayrshire herds in the Ayrshire Herd Test Division of five to 15 cows.

Zieg's cattle are credited with producing 1158 pounds of 4.6 per cent milk and 53 pounds of butterfat. They competed with 16,000 other cows in the test. Chester C. Putney, secretary of the Ayrshire Breeder's Association reports that Ayrshire cows hold the record among all dairy breeds for having the highest percentage of cows in the test.

Sport Shirt Is Maternity Blouse, Husband Finds

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—Clothing apportionments were confused in a Prescott household today.

A woman, returning home from a shopping trip, saw her husband working in the garden and wearing a pajamalike shirt.

"Why are you wearing that top?" she inquired.

"Isn't that the new shirt you made for me the other day?" he countered.

"Goodness no!" the wife exclaimed. "It's the top of my maternity dress."

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Baton Rouge city planning commission recently approved the extension of a dead end street to link two main traffic arteries.

Garbage Pickups In Marion Running Behind Schedule

Garbage and rubbish pick-ups in Marion are still running a half-day to a day behind revised schedules which became effective July 13.

John Davis, superintendent of the sanitation department, said today that some more minor changes in the schedule are now being planned and will be announced the first of next week. It's hoped these new changes will put the pick-ups back on schedule, he said.

He also warned that all whose refuse is picked up from the alley must place garbage cans and rubbish containers along the alley on the day it's scheduled to be picked up. Some persons have failed to do this and then have complained when their garbage was not picked up. He also asked that persons whose refuse is picked up from the street place it as near the front of the house as possible.

Persons who are missed may call the sanitation department and a special pick-up will be made, Davis said.

Columbus Man, 25, Who Used Baby as Shield Is Captured

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Jesse McCoy, 25, of Columbus, who used a 9-month-old baby as a shield against police gunfire only to abandon the girl in a thicket, was in jail today in connection with a series of burglaries.

He and his companion, Mrs. Imogene Blythe, 25, mother of the child, were charged with breaking and entering.

Sheriff Samuel B. Mark said any charges of child neglect and abuse would have to be pressed by the child's father, Omar Blythe of Columbus.

Mark said McCoy used little Joyce to prevent law officers from firing at him after they had stopped his car to ask him about a series of Ross County burglaries Tuesday night.

McCoy, said the sheriff, fled into the Hocking hills near Adelphi after abandoning the diaper - clad baby. He was arrested 20 hours later in a ramshackle shack where he had been living with Mrs. Blythe and her four children for the past week, the sheriff reported.

The baby was found unharmed but suffering slightly from exposure. The child was treated at Columbus Children's Hospital. Blythe was to take the chold home today.

Girl, 9, Satisfies Her Wish, Takes Bus Ride

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Nine-year-old Janet Purkay had $9.90 change after she bought the newspaper her mother told her to get Tuesday afternoon.

Instead of going home, Janet went to a bus station. Two hours later her mother, Mrs. Gloria Purkay Champion, reported her missing.

At Baker, Calif., a bus driver turned Janet over to her mother, who drove 200 miles to the desert city to pick up the child.

"I just wanted to take a bus ride, Mommy," Janet explained.

Battle Over Audit

Rhodes Continues Duel With Stark Prosecutor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Auditor James A. Rhodes today gave an official of the Ohio Prosecutor's Assn., details of a state examiner's report on operation of the office of Stark County Prosecutor John Rossetti.

The report criticized the prosecutor for allegedly failing to file itemized expense accounts during a 1951-53 audit period. The prosecutor claimed he complied with such requirements.

Rhodes related details of the report in a letter to Stanley Husted of Springfield, Clark County prosecutor and vice president of the state association. The letter said in part:

"Pursuant to our telephone conversation, I am furnishing you a complete history of the facts relative to the published report of the results of the examination of the prosecuting attorney's office of Stark County. . . .

"As required by statute, the report was filed for publication on the 16th day of July 1953, before which date a copy of the report was mailed to the prosecuting attorney of Stark County and five days before July 16, under a policy established by me, the prosecuting attorney was informed that the report was being made public, which notification contained a request for any explanation he might have relative to the contents contained in the report.

"Nothing was heard from the prosecuting attorney of Stark County until the 16th day of July and only after he had been informed by the press that they had received a copy of the report, after which he called the state auditor's office and to me, and others in the office, he threatened a law suit against me and the examiner unless the report was withdrawn from the newspapers.

"I immediately informed him that my oath of obligation as to the performance of my duty as state auditor did not permit me to be intimidated by threats of a lawsuit and my performance of the duty of the state auditor would not yield to any influence.

"After the publication of the report, the prosecuting attorney of Stark County was quoted in a press release as follows: 'This is a cheap political trick on the part of a state official who is intent only upon publicity to feed his limitless political ambitions. The charges made are pure and gold lies.'

"In order that you may be the judge of the wisdom of the Stark County prosecuting attorney in calling me a 'liar' I am enclosing with this letter a copy of the original press release and incorporating in this letter substantially the disclosures made by state Examiner Floyd Aultman in his report of the examination of the office of the prosecuting attorney of Stark County. . . .

"In reviewing the report of the prosecuting attorney of Stark County immediately prior to 1950, we find that the former prosecutor also failed to make an itemized report of his expenditures of money in Section 3004 fund. We are informed that this former Stark County prosecutor is now a judge of the Court of Common Pleas in and for Stark County."

Boys Stammer More Than Girls

PORTLAND, Ore., (INS)—Stammering affects about one out of each 100 students in the United States, with boys being hit the hardest and children from high income groups more subject to the affliction than those from lower income families.

Those are conclusions drawn by a study of a recent survey by Mrs. Alice W. Mills, head of the Easter Seal agency Speech Center in Portland.

Mrs. Mills is a recognized expert on speech correction. She retired last year as professor of speech at Mt. Holyoke College.

She advises parents to leave their children alone if they are slow to speak. "Some just speak earlier than others," she says.

She said that experts believe children in higher income families stutter more often than others because they are subjected to more pressure by their families for early speech development.

Brooklyn Increases Margin in National League

Brooks Nip Cubs Twice; Yanks' Lead Cut to 4½

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

When the "break up" boys take a look at today's major league standings they may want to consider switching leagues.

Instead of crying "Break up the Yankees" as they have for years, they might find it more appropriate to start chanting "Break up the Dodgers."

Today, for the first time since May 17, the American League has a closer pennant race than does the National League.

Brooklyn's steadily moving Dodgers lead Milwaukee by 5½ games The New York Yankees own only a 4½-game bulge over Chicago.

The Dodgers took a big stride forward last night by outclassing Chicago in a double-header 9-3 and as Milwaukee bowed to Philadelphia 6-3.

The Yankees frittered away a full game of their lead by losing to Cleveland 6-4 for the second straight night after the White Sox shaded Boston 1-0.

Ever since the Dodgers came back to home cooking shortly before the All-Star Game they've been fattening their margin. They've won 10 of their last 11 games with the single misadventure coming against Cincinnati Sunday.

The Yankees on the other hand have had their ups and downs recently, reaching their high point with two brilliant victories over Chicago Sunday and then falling off immediately against Cleveland.

Brooklyn combined excellent pitching, usually a rarity in Ebbets Field, with its normally heavy hitting to humiliate the hapless Cubs. Johnny Podres, a rookie left-hander, struck out 10 and gave up six hits in his second complete major league game. Veteran Carl Erskine allowed only four hits and also struck out 10 in the nightcap.

The Dodgers combed Chicago pitching for 24 hits including two home runs by Gil Hodges, who drove in seven tallies, and single circuit blasts by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider.

At Philadelphia the Phillies jumped on Warren Spahn for four runs in the first inning and the Braves couldn't catch up. The opening attack featured a two-run homer by Granny Hamner. It was Spahn's fourth loss against 12 victories.

But the story at Chicago was almost all pitching as Virgil Trucks scattered four hits and let only one runner get as far as second. Mel Parnell, ace of the Boston staff, hurled one of his best games too, but one hit, a triple by Chico Carrasquel to open the fifth inning, ruined him. Chico hung on third while Trucks grounded out but he scampered home when Nellie Fox lofted a long fly to center field.

The only other American League action was in St. Louie, where Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia Athletics, last year's most valuable player in the loop, won his first game since May 3, a five-hitter over the Browns 11-1.

In the National league the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals swapped positions again as the Giants rallied for two runs in the ninth to edge the Cards 6-5. The victory moved New York back into fourth place. Al Dark's single with the bases loaded was the payoff punch.

25-Lap Race Set Friday At Richwood

RICHWOOD—Last week's feature winner, Dick Baughman, will be back at the Richwood Speedway Friday night. He nosed out Chet Johnson after a restart at 11 laps due to a four-car pile-up that halted the feature. Rocky Harper spun out and knocked a light pole to a 45 degree angle. Curt Hoskins received a cut on the side of the head in the four-car tangle. Gene Holland flipped and Don Strasburg and Truman Redinbaugh were also in on the fracas.

Seven events with a 25-lap feature will make up Friday's card opening with time trials at 7 p.m. and the first race at 8:30.

The 300-lap team race scheduled for Richwood Fairgrounds, Friday Sept. 4, has prompted an earlier day opening for the fair. The opening day will be a sort of "automobile day" as an auto show is being contemplated along with the race.

Qualifying for the night program will take place in the afternoon with cars taking their precision laps to suit their convenience. Before the afternoon is ended, 24 teams of 48 cars in all, will have earned starting positions.

Outdoor Writers Seat New Officers

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—J. Hammond Brown of the Baltimore, Md., News-Post was re-elected president of the Outdoor Writers Association of America yesterday.

Others named at a 1953 national convention session were Seth L. Myers, Sharon, Pa., secretary; James W. Stuber, Sidney, Ohio, assistant secretary; E. Budd Marter III, Beverly, N. J., treasurer, and Lou Klewer, Toledo, Ohio, chairman of the board of directors.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Marion will be represented when Coach Paul. Brown calls his Cleveland Browns together for the first time Sunday at Hiram College.

The local representative will be Bob Schnelker who will be one of 10 gridders shooting for end slots with Brown's team. He is the son of Paul Schnelker of 404½ Oak St. and is a brother to Dave Schnelker, a member of last year's basketball squad at Harding High School. Another brother, Paul Jr., is in California.

Schnelker, a graduate of Upper Sandusky High School in 1945, has been waiting a long time for a crack at the pro ranks and is champing at the bit. Following completion of his high school career, Bob enrolled at Bowling Green where he put in another four years of varsity competition with the Falcons. While there he first came under the eye of Brown and his coaching cohorts. They've been keeping tabs on him since.

SHORT

ONLY ONE stumbling block has appeared in Schnelker's path and that occurred at Bowling Green. While at Upper Sandusky, he not only carried home all-league honors while playing for Coach Harold Tenwalde but starred in basketball as well. At Bowling Green, he was forbidden to play basketball as a result of his gridiron prowess.

It was during his stay at the university, Bob first made his presence known here. He appeared against several local teams wita semi-pro cage outfits from Bowling Green and the Toledo area.

THE NEW BROWN has been a member of the Marine Corps for the past two years and is waiting for a discharge at the present time. He is expected home this week and will report Sunday to the training camp. While in the Marine Corps, Schnelker has been stationed at Parris Island where he was active in all sports. Only last week, he returned to the base after a 30-day coast to coast baseball tour. He was a big part of the Parris Island grid team which rolled to the Marine championships two straight years.

The transplanted Marionite will be one of 25 first -year men shooting for berths with the Brownies. The 23-year-old Bob weighs in at 208 pounds and stands 6-3.

Yesterday's STARS

Batting—Gil Hodges, Brooklyn Dodgers, hit two home runs and drove in seven runs in Brooklyn's twin triumphs over Chicago, running his season's RBI total to 85, tops in the National League.

Pitching—Virgil Trucks, Chicago White Sox, gave up only four singles and allowed only one runner as far as second in winning his seventh straight game for Chicago 1-0 over Boston.

PLAN TESTIMONIAL

CINCINNATI (AP) — Labor, business and political leaders will be here Saturday for a testimonial dinner marking George M. Harrison's 25th consecutive year as president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, AFL.

Harrison, who has his office here, heads a union of 352,000 members.

SCHOENDIENST TREATED IN DRESSING ROOM. Dr. Anthony Palmermo, New York Giants club physician, works over St. Louis Cardinals Second Baseman Red Schoendienst whose left eye was badly cut in a play at first base in second inning of a game with the Giants at Polo Grounds. At right is Dick Sisler, Card's reserve first first baseman. Schoendienst was hit over the left eye by a throw made by Giant's Second Baseman Al Dark on an infield play.

HE CAN STILL SMILE. His eye is badly battered, but Schoendienst has a smile in his New York hotel room. Ten stitches were needed to close the wound.

Injury Sidelines Red Schoendienst

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal second baseman Red Schoendienst was hospitalized last night for what the club physician called a "complete bed rest."

Schoendienst, who was hit over the left eye with a thrown ball in New York Tuesday, also had aggrivated another injury, a torn abdominal muscle.

Dr. I. C. Middleman said it will be at least a week before the major league's leading hitter will return to action.

Louisville Begins Association Drive

By The Associated Press

League-leading Indianapolis and second place Toledo both absorbed defeats last night while Louisville, in third place, moved to within four games of the American Association pacesetters.

Louisville broke loose with a three-run seventh inning to down Indianapolis 5-3 behind the seven hit pitching of Al Curtis.

Toledo, remaining 1½ games behind the Indians, was trimmed by Kansas City 5-3 as the Blues scored four times in the first inning.

Victim of Haystack

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Miss June Gravitt, 20, is in a hospital today —the victim of a haystack.

She was crossing a downtown street yesterday when a load of hay slipped from a truck and completely covered her. She was dug out, apparently suffering only shock.

Redlegs Drop 3-2 Decision To Pittsburgh

Abrams, Former Cincy Player, Leads Attack With Pair of Homers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — All good things apparently must come to end sometime and that's what happened yesterday to the Cincinnati Redlegs' mastery over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

And it was a former Redleg who did most of the damage to the Cincinnatians.

The Reds had racked up 10 straight victories over the Pirates until two home runs by Cal Abrams and some fine seven-hit pitching by Paul LaPalme brought the Pittsburghers a 3-2 triumph.

Abrams was one of the players sent to Pittsburgh in the deal which made Gus Bell the Cincinnati center fielder.

Jackie Collum was charged with the defeat but it was Herman Wehmeier who yielded Abrams, two home runs. Herman tossed his cap and his glove into the dugout when Manager Rogers Hornsby pulled him from the mound in the third inning. He had just given Abrams his second circuit wallop and then walked two with only one out.

Collum held the Pirates after that until the seventh when he gave up the winning run on singles by Abrams, Danny O'Connel and Hal Rice.

The Reds packed all of their scoring into the sixth. Collum walked. Rocky Bridges forced him but went all the way to second as Eddie O'Brien threw the ball away trying for a double play.

Bobby Adams followed with a double to score Bridges and then he came home on Bell's single. Ted Kluszewski got a pop single and Bell went to third on a passed ball.

The rally died there, however, as Jim Greengrass fanned and Bob Borkowski flied out.

Garcia Wins, 6-4

Indians Capture Fifth Straight From Yankees

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians may not yet be back in serious pennant contention, but they have taken a long step toward learning how to beat the league-leading New York Yankees.

In their last five games, the Tribe has won every contest, three in New York and two here.

Early Wynn takes the mound for the Tribe today in the final game of the series, pitting his 9-7 record against Tom Gorman, a bespectacled reliefer making his first start of the year for the Yanks.

By virtue of their 6-4 triumph last night, the Tribe now is nine games behind New York and 4½ in the rear of the second-place Chicago White Sox.

Except for two innings Mike Garcia kept a tight rein on the Yankees, although touched for 10 hits. Whitey Ford, his opponent, was knocked from the box in the seventh and Ray Scarborough finished.

After the Indians picked up a run in the first frame on two walks and Al Rosen's single, the Yankees pushed over three in the second on four singles and a double by Gil McDougald. Yogi Berra's homer in the next frame gave the champions a 4-1 lead.

But from there on, the Indians had the scoring to themselves. They got two in the fourth on Joe Tipton's homer and they added another pair in the fifth on Dale Mitchell's homer and doubles by Rosen and Larry Doby.

The Tribesmen scored their sixth run in the seventh inning, with a hit-batsman and singles by Doby and Strickland accounting for the marker.

Deny Any Plans To Move

Three Club Owners Voice Opposition to Transfers

NEW YORK (AP)—Realignment of baseball's major leagues to take in Kansas City, Los Angeles and San Francisco is strongly opposed by at least three owners.

The possible shift of several franchises to populous areas now supporting minor league ball has been a red-hot issue ever since the Braves were transferred from Boston to Milwaukee with marked increase in gate receipts and the American League refused the Browns permission to move to Baltimore.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, suggested at the recent major league meetings in Cincinnati that the American League transfer the Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

And earlier this week The Sporting News, baseball publication, reported Bill Veeck's Browns are due to leave St. Louis for Kansas City.

Other reports had the Phillies bowing out of Philadelphia if the Athletics don't, with either Los Angeles or San Francisco as their destination.

To these reports came answers from owner-president Bob Carpenter of the Phillies; Roy Mack, executive vice president of the Athletics and Clark Griffith, president and owner of the Washington Senators.

"I'm here to stay," said Carpenter. "If Webb thinks the Pacific Coast is such a swell place to have a ball club, let him move his own club out there and stop trying to run my business.

"One of the troubles with big league baseball now is that international bankers and guys who get 10 million dollar federal building contracts are trying to tell everyone else how to run his business.

"Let them attend to their politics and contracts and let me struggle building a ball club. I don't tell them what they should do and I don't welcome their advice on what I should do."

Previously, Mack said the Athletics were going to remain in Philadelphia.

Griffith got into the discussion and expressed disapproval of suggested plans to shift the Browns to Kansas City.

"It's not that I have anything against Kansas City," said Griffith. "It's just that they're not in our circuit geographically. I don't want any change that will increase our traveling difficulties."

Griffith added he though the American League should extend its territory no farther west than St. Louis, pointing out there are several cities such as Baltimore and Minneapolis that would be interested in taking over the St. Louis franchise.

Hal Newhouser Given Release From Detroit

15-Year Career Ends With Sore Arm and Many Fond Memories

DETROIT (AP) — Hal Newhouser, who piled up victories—and salary checks—at a terrific clip, leaves the Detroit Tigers with a painful pitching arm but many wonderful memories.

The 32-year-old southpaw, once the mightiest pitcher in the American League, was handed his unconditional release yesterday by the last-place Tigers, who are building for the future.

Thus ended a 15-year career in which Newhouser won an even 200 games against 148 losses and earned approximately $500,000.

Newhouser, a 20-game winner four times, was troubled on and off by a sore arm and was of little help to the Tigers during the last three seasons. In 1951, his record was 6-6. Last year it was 9-9.

This season, he worked only 21 2-3 innings and had an 0-1 record. His earned run average was 6.91.

Tiger skipper Fred Hutchinson kept saying he was saving Newhouser until the warm weather rolled around. Summertime came and Newhouser still saw little action.

Prince Hal can look back on the 1944-45-46 seasons with pride. In those years he won 29, 25 and 26 games and baseball writers throughout the country were comparing him—and rather favorably, too—with such great lefthanders as Lefty Grove and Carl Hubbell.

In 1945, Newhouser helped pitch the Tigers to an American League pennant. He won two games and lost once in the winning World Series against the Chicago Cubs.

For his efforts in 1944 and '45, Newhouser was voted the league's Most Valuable Player Award.

Butcher Boy Wins, Suffers Hand Injury

CHICAGO (AP)—It may be five or six weeks before Dan Bucceroni, the former Philadelphia butcher boy, again can start axing his way toward a heavyweight championship fight.

Dangerous Dan, with an 11 pound weight advantage — 193 to 182—pounded out a 10-round unanimous decision over rugged Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles last night in Chicago Stadium.

Only 925 fans turned out for the nationally televised scrap, contributing to a net gate of $2,243.08. Each fighter recieved $2,500 from TV and Bucceroni took 25 per cent and Harrison 20 of the net.

Along about the fifth round, Bucceroni said he felt his right hand hurting. In the first round he ripped his right to Harrison's jaw and sent the Los Angeles Negro sprawling for an eight count.

After the fight, Bucceroni found the knuckles on his right hand were swollen and badly bruised.

"This will keep me on the shelf for five or six weeks," he said.

Spiritual Approach

By George Sokolsky

SOKOLSKY

The search for peace in our times cannot be limited to the meetings, conferences and plans of politicians. They hardly affect our thinking because most human beings are finally concerned with their own lives, their families and their small personal affairs. Public problems bear upon us heavily when taxes are high, when currency loses value, when a son is killed in war, but generally government is remote.

This is true in every country, otherwise every man would be a statesman and nobody would do any work.

Yet, we are in our generation, disturbed by the course of events.

WAR HAS been with us, one form or another, in fighting or trying to avoid further fighting, in the harsh economic conditions produced by war, since 1914.

A whole generation has had its thinking about life and itself disturbed by these confusing conditions.

One of the factors in our lives has been the tremendous strides made in the physical and social sciences.

Data pile upon data, fact upon fact, device upon device so rapidly that no one can know all that there is to know and no one has succeeded in relating the new knowledge to old and tried ideas of life.

The result is an apparent loosening of moral concepts, particularly as they relate to duty and responsibility.

DR. SINNOTT, professor of botany at Yale, once stated the case much better than I can. He said:

"Man needs the tremendous revelations which science will continue to bring, but he is a creature of the spirit, too, and needs high faith by which to live.

Countless millions are untouched by such a faith and the most vigorous and vocal of them are violently hostile to religious faith and worship of any kind. To win them over, something more than a guerrilla warfare against ignorance and evil is required."

We all get bogged down in our specialties. I recently surveyed my own work and was astonished to find how much I have written about the details of fields that interest me and how little I have done to fit them into a general philosophy of life.

SO THE MAN who is working on atomic fission becomes so absorbed by his share, minute as it may be, in the remaking of scientific practises.

So the statisticians hurl figures at us which are interesting in their own right but valuable only if we relate them to life.

The fundamental problem of life is one person and how he lives in this world.

Your own son is a more significant being to you than the entire 2.5 billion other human beings on earth. For him, you have not only affection, but moral responsibility.

Your daughter may be plain and of a crude disposition — but she is your daughter and you love her and to you, she is even beautiful.

ALL KNOWLEDGE of the physical and social scientists, all their objectivity in no way affects these human relationships. Nor can anyone produce a biologic formula to explain away the attraction of one particular male for one particular female which to others makes no sense at all.

Tell the young fellow that the woman makes no difference and that that amazing personality is a composite of clothes, make-up and a line. He still feels something special, something that boils over and gives him, if only for a second, a look into eternity.

Tell him that every animal goes through the same biologic experience. He does not believe a word of it.

He alone — he and nobody else — has eve gone through such an experience. Every man relives the initial discovery of Adam.

ONLY RELIGION meets the eternal need of man to explain himself to himself.

Only in the quiet and peace of prayer can the human mind throw off barnacles of immediate problems and find a relationship to life eternal, changeless, everlasting.

Only in religion lies the discipline for a moral and ethical life.

Unfortunately, the same forces of upheaval which are disturbing politics and economics throughout the world have upset religious concepts and produced an unorthodoxy in morals which everywhere manifests itself in increased crimes, in increased divorce, in broken families and in a retreat from personal responsibility.

Neither politics nor economics nor war but the spiritual approach to life can provide a guide to living with these problems.
